Never silent,
Grimsley echoes
The song of the young,
Reflecting living voices
Even into the darkness of years.

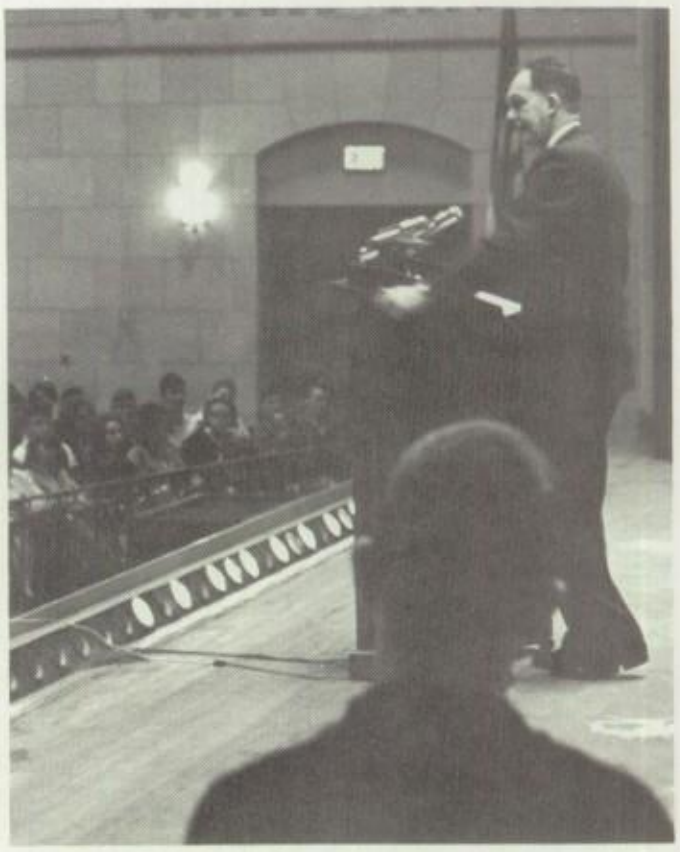
WELL-INFORMED, thoughtful, and articulate, Superintendent Weaver guided the School Board and administrative assistants through many problems and triumphs.

MR. PHILIP WEAVER, dynamic but warmly human, was always an attentive and concerned listener.

Mr. Weaver, remembered, is a harmonious blend of charm,

WHEN MR. WEAVER came each year to speak in a GHS assembly, students listened, for he was a man who said what was worth hearing.



Philip Johnson Weaver spent his eighteen years in the Greensboro schools striving for excellence. Even before he became Superintendent in 1958, he was working to create a communications bridge between himself and his principals, teachers, and students. His efficiency ranged from finding ways to relax tensions to personally relaying instructions on snow days. Throughout the state he will be remembered as a superior administrator, for he had the talents that make a good man great. Students at Grimsley felt a deep respect and admiration for P. J. Weaver. A smile, a firm handshake, and a pleasant word characterized him to us. He supported the Whirlies in all seasons. When he spoke annually in a GHS assembly, he showed his concern and interest in the affairs of our daily lives. He often came to Grimsley seeking student opinions on crucial issues. Mr. Weaver spoke a modern language, kept aware of our probelms, and radiated his faith in our worth. Because we remember him for his constant interest and his steady devotion to the students of Grimsley, we gratefully dedicate this 1970 Whirligig to the memory of Philip Johnson Weaver.

WITH AWARENESS of needs, lucid foresight in long-range planning, and the able assistance of Dr. House, Mr. Weaver's successes were many.

great strengths, confident idealism

FRIENDLINESS and a keen sense of humor endeared Mr. Weaver to all who knew him. Below, he shares a joke with Mr. Routh and Mr. Glenn.

MR. AND MRS. WEAVER were regulars at the Senior Class Teas.

Foreword

In the staff's quest for the "Song of Grimsley", we ran into a serious problem. The "Song of Grimsley" is there, but how do you find it? Resorting to the usual way of passing the buck, we asked for volunteers. Immediately Bruce Osborne's hand hit the air. Unabashed by the enormity of this assignment, Bruce set to work with his usual fervor. Bruce, accompanied by the staff artist, Debbie Wooten, was everywhere. He went to sports events, participated in school functions and service club activities, and maintained his 4.0 average (at least that's what he tells us).

Some people think Bruce had to be two people to do all that he did. We have our suspicions. But anyway, let Bruce speak for himself — which he does quite wittily. As we join Bruce in his search, through these pages, we hope to find out how all the activities of Grimsley come together into one harmonious chorus. We will follow Bruce through classes, in the halls, and outside of school.

Maybe you won't see it like Bruce saw it, but at least you'll see it.

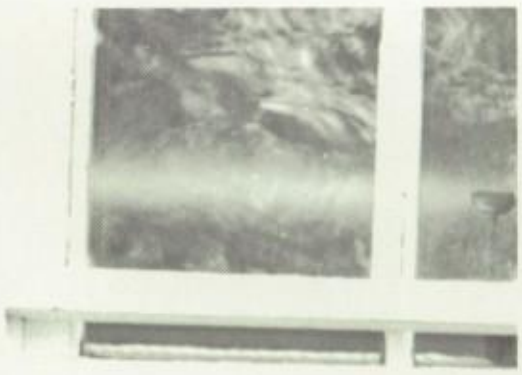
ACADEMICS



BOARD OF EDUCATION and Administrators – SEATED: Mr. Frederick D. Cundiff, Mrs. Margaret A. Harris, Mr. R. K. Hunter, Chairman; Dr. G. H. Evans, Mr. H. L. Butler. STANDING: Mr. J. J. Lentz, Mr. E. F. Lucas Jr., Mr. A. S. Lineberry, Dr. W. J. House, Superintendent; Mr. R. T. Jones, Dr. Robert F. Moseley, School Attonrey. ABSENT: Mr. G. E. Norman Jr.

New superintendent takes the lead in school affairs

The Greensboro Board of Education and our school administrators worked overtime this year on issues of vital concern. This was a year of threats and promises. The school bus service was almost deleted from the City schools. Desegregation orders from the Supreme Court continued to be implemented and plans expanded. The HEW Department threatened to cut off funds to the Greensboro schools, but didn't. Through permission granted by the School Board, high schools once again welcomed spectators and opponents to home basketball courts, after a year of games played at the Coliseum.

A new Superintendent, Dr. W. J. House, who succeeded the late Philip J. Weaver, worked with the Board this year. He fulfilled his duties with zest and imagination, welcomed new ideas, and gained a reputation for fairness in his dealings.

A development that created excitement and hope at Grimsley was the offer by the Greensboro Swimming Association of a large sum of money to be used for an indoor swimming pool at GHS, provided the School Board could find more funds to construct a building, with some classrooms, to house the pool. At presstime, the pool's fate is still uncertain.

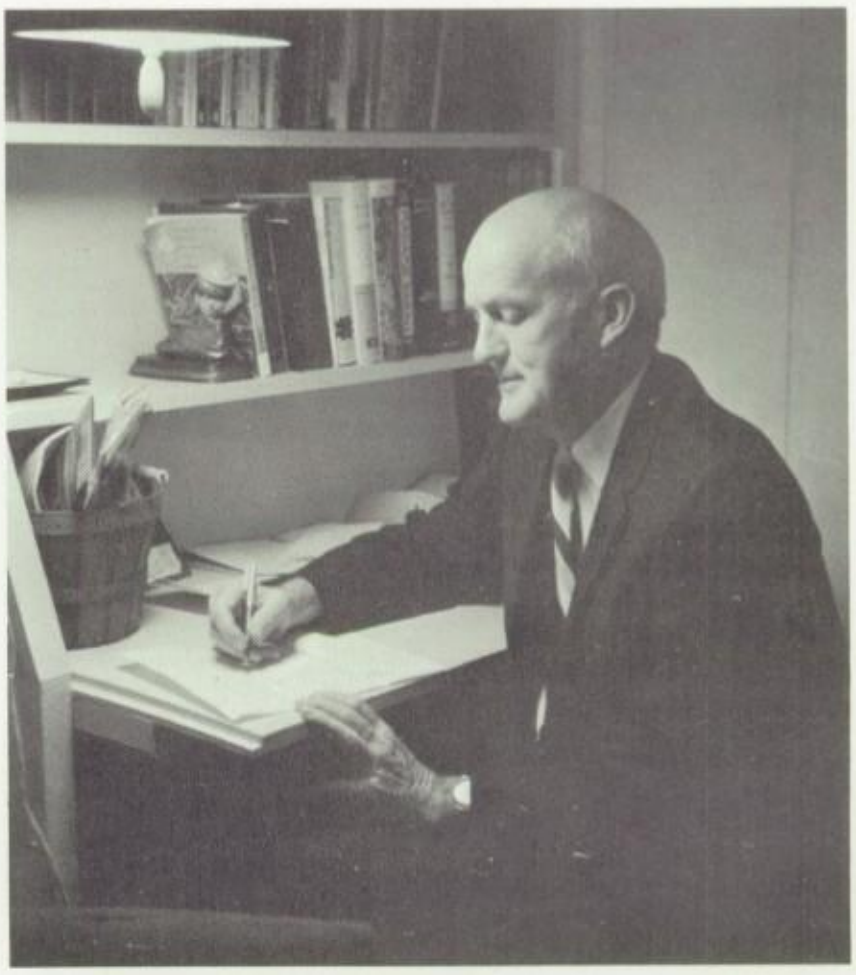
SUPPERINTENDENT of Greensboro Schools, Dr. W. J. House, shows the pleasure he feels as he serves in the receiving line at a tea honoring GHS Seniors.

K. M. Misenheimer. Absent: Mr. John Barney, President.

PTSA puts emphasis on open communication lines

The Grimsley Parent-Teacher-Student Association is a group devoted to keeping open communication lines, so that all three groups will profit by knowing more about the other two. Two favorite programs of the year are dedicated to this purpose. First of these is the reception parents give for teachers in the gym. Then later a night is set for parents to follow the schedules of their son or daughter. At the sound of a bell, parents scurry to a class, hear the teacher give a brief resume of the course and its aims and they possibly ask a few questions. Then another bell rings, and the process is repeated, until by the end of a hectic and tiring hour, parents have hiked a mile or so and have had brief glimpses into the rooms and the courses where their sons and daughters spend so many hours a week.

Because the students are an important part of this organization, almost half of the Executive Board is composed of student leaders. Mr. Barney, President, says that these students make a significant contribution to the PTSA's overall operation.



PRESIDENT of the Grimsley Parent-Teacher-Student Association, Mr. John Barney spends many hours at his desk planning projects and meetings.

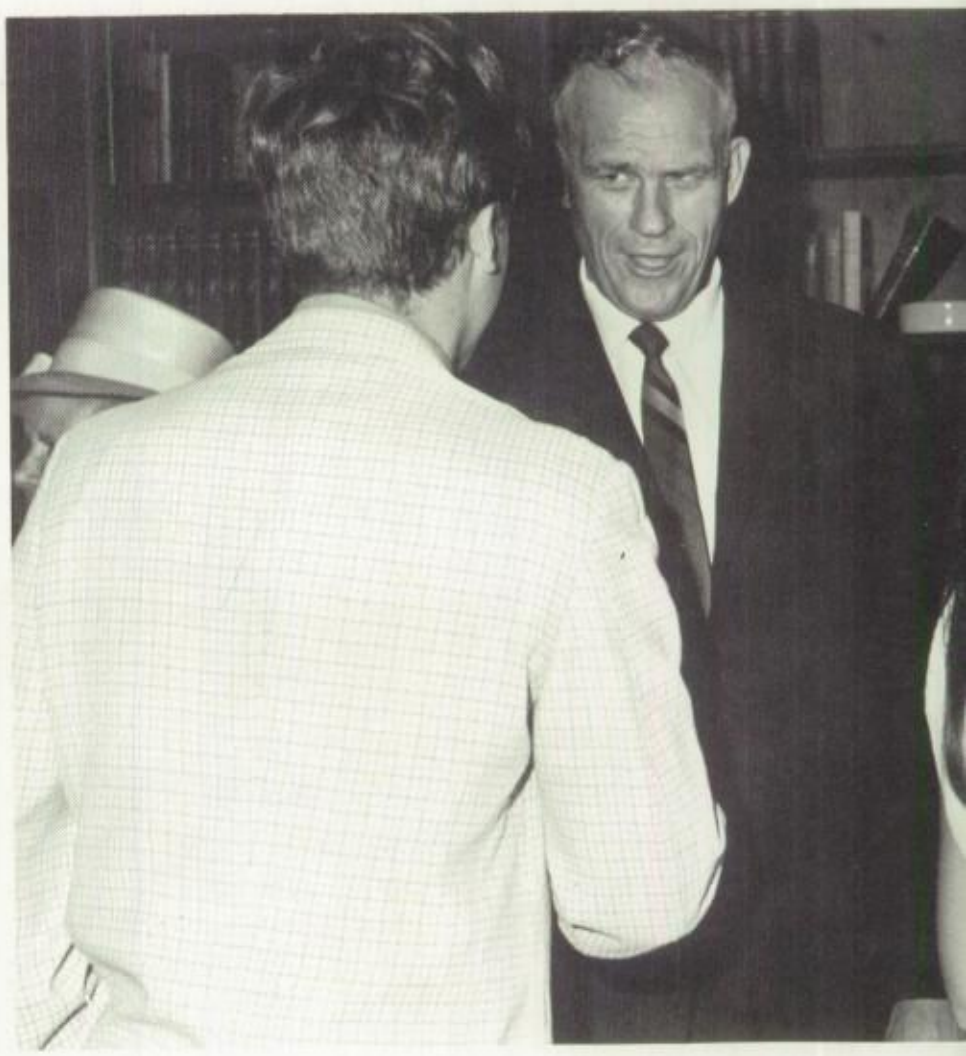
PRINCIPAL R. L. Glenn, whether at his desk or in motion throughout GHS, keeps his ear and his interest attuned to everyone else's needs.

Principal Glenn, Assistant Principal Canady assume

"Hi, Buddy," the ever–familiar greeting of Mr. Robert L. Glenn, had a special significance this year. The day brightened for a student whenever the principal of a school of 2200 spoke to him.

Surprisingly, even as a very busy principal, Mr. Glenn continued his person-to-person relationships. He initiated a weekly discussion period for students and teachers interested in talking over common concerns. He made time for individuals, listening thoughtfully to problems, new ideas, and hopeful plans, then voiced his own opinions. The office seemed as much a place for students with scholastic problems as for the loud-mouthed trouble-makers.

Our favorite alumnus, Mr. Glenn has known GHS and its people for over thirty years – since before his graduation in 1940. Familiar with its codes and traditions, yet sensing the need for change, Mr. Glenn let students use their own judgement as to hair length and dress. Faced with such problems as demonstrations and group protests, he wisely and realistically made decisions, announced them, and kept peace in Grimsley's halls.



As students listened to afternoon announcements in Mr. Andy Canady's husky voice, some probably remembered him as JV football coach, others as a driver training teacher. With the office he had assumed when Mr. Glenn moved up to the Principal's duties, Mr. Canady inherited the hard work, the troubles, and the frequent emergencies of managing the buses and their drivers, the book room, and many of the discipline problems that arise in a school as large as Grimsley.

Like Mr. Glenn before him, Mr. Canady brought to the office of Assistant Principal a warm friendliness, a gentleness, and a sincere interest in everyone around him. The strong convictions and the firmness he needed for more persistent problems were there too.

Across the hall Mrs. Daphne Stanton, Dean of Students, turned from one duty to another with her unfailing courtesy. In a job that has grown more complicated each year, Mrs. Stanton has managed to attend to attendance problems and records for over 60 home room teachers and more than 2200 students.

Counselors, Secretaries serve total GHS population

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS – Mrs. Lynne Nelson, Miss Sandra Schiffley, Miss Lynne Harrell, and Mrs. Mary A. Moody – plan together for a Saturday testing schedule.

SECRETARY for the Guidance department, Mrs. Anna Shaw, enjoys a brief respite in the faculty coffee room.

Among the busiest people at Grimsley are the guidance counselors and the school secretaries. Their particular jobs begin before 8:30 each morning and continue until 4:00 or later. Both jobs require constant attention and awareness of activities that would exhaust the most energetic person. Our counselors and secretaries meet the demands with a smile.

Schedule sheets on each counselor's door every week show how even their minutes are crammed with a constant flow of people – students usually, parents sometimes. Miss Schiffley, who counsels the first fourth of the alphabetically divided student body, Miss Harrell, Mrs. Nelson, and Head Counselor Mrs. Moody – all work to straighten out snarled schedules, clarify test scores, or select a suitable college for problem-ridden counselees.

From endless transcript sheets to accurate money counting for numerous school activities, Mrs. Coltrane and Mrs. Reece continuously provide a clear and smooth flow of communication.

Six matchless teachers turn in their books this year

Eventually the day comes when even the most dedicated and enthusiastic teacher calls it quits, turns in the well-worn books, and moves out to new places, fresh vistas.

One of these, Miss Estelle Mitchell, has taught at GHS for 45 years and has headed the Modern Foreign Language Department since 1927. Her plans for this summer include a round-the-world flight to the Orient, Egypt, Israel, and Greece.

Mrs. Margaret Hadden has been Coordinator of Distributive Education and advisor of DECA since 1947. She will relish the new freedom to spend more time with flowers and with her grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Madlin, Latin Department head, has taught Latin and taken many eager groups of JCL members to state conventions in 24 years at GHS. She looks forward to going with her husband to their cottage at Holden Beach and an apartment in Wilmington.

Mrs. Grace Alton came to GHS 34 years ago to teach mathematics. She plans now to do many of the things she likes best to do – travel, sleep late when she pleases, and fish.

Miss Sara Mims, who has taught English and headed the English Department since 1936, anticipates nothing more strenuous than traveling, reading, and just relaxing.

Miss Louise Smith – scholarly English teacher, traveler, writer – has been here since 1927. She will spend much of her free time creating with clay and continuing research, for a possible book, into the War of 1812.

It is Grimsley's immeasurable loss that six such superior teachers chose this year to alter the status quo.

Second sophomore: "Daaa . . . I ain't heard nothing yet."

First sophomore: "Anyway, this year we have to read Idylls of the King and Julius Caesar."

Second sophomore: "Yeah, we was talkin' about that yesterday."

First sophomore: "In our junior year we read things like The Scarlet Letter and Moby Dick, and in the senior year it's English literature like Macbeth, Hamlet, and Tale of Two Cities. What do you think of that?"

Second sophomore: "To be or not to be, that is the question."

First sophomore: "Yeah, and did you know that you can take composition lab and accelerated English, and when you're a senior A.P. English?"

Second sophomore: "It is a far better thing that I do, than I have ever done before."

First sophomore: "There's also special classes like dramatics, creative writing, Shakespeare, and even journalism."

Second sophomore: "I say, do you really believe that Grimsley English will emancipate me from the barrier of poor grammar which I have built over the last few years?"

First sophomore: "Could be."

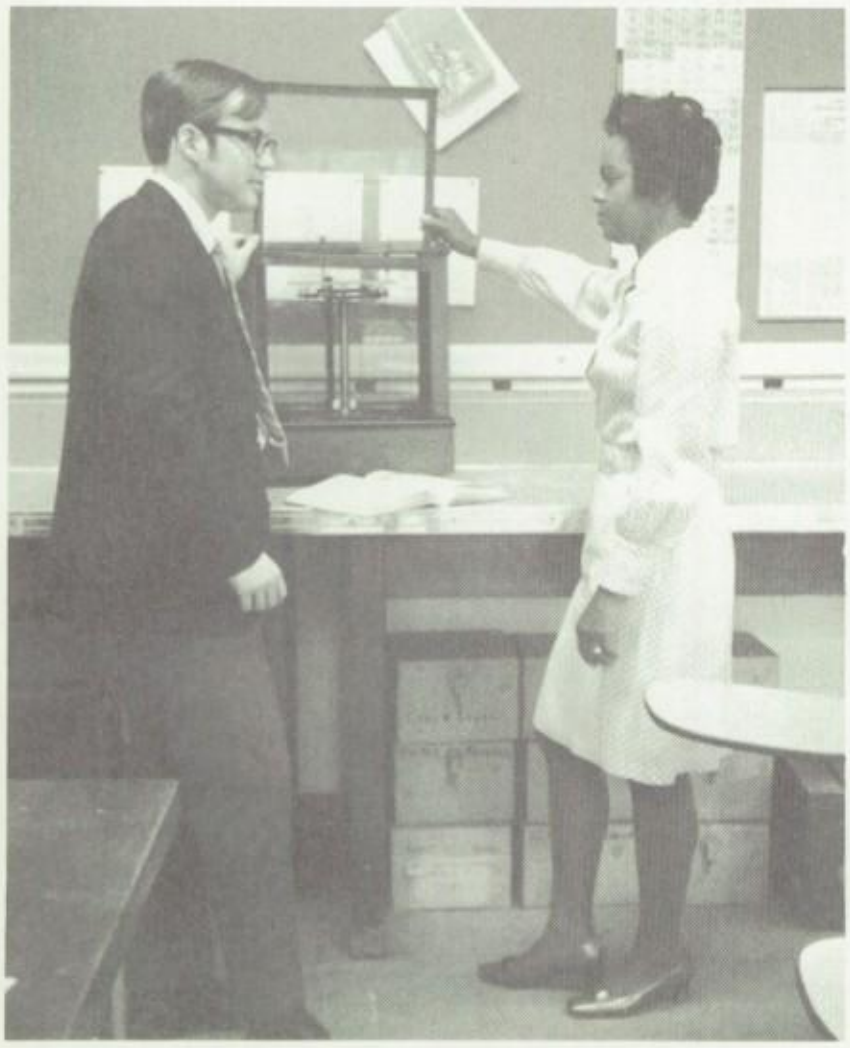
the most urgent questions about themselves and life



CHEMISTRY teachers, Mr. Robbins and Mrs. Sullivan, share ideas and lab equipment.

Fridays tend to be the only quiet days on the second floor of the science building. That's because it's test day. The sophomores, after unrewardingly trying to find their Biology classes on the third floor, settle down to romantic relationships with a cold frog and the basic fundamentals of plant cells. Juniors and seniors unwillingly head toward chemistry classes daily to struggle with equations and the exacting properties of molecular behavior. Occasionally one of these same students tries to solve the teachers' problem of lack of space by mixing two incompatible chemicals and causing an explosion. The incorporation of sophomore biology and junior chemistry is advanced biology, where students are placed on a college level working load of individual projects and research. Physics, a thinking science, quizzes students with theories hundreds of years old. Despite the odors of the science classrooms, many students find there an answer to the question of life work.

BESIDES his four biology classes, Mr. Whitely profitably manages the school store.

MISS DORIS SMITH looks over a profile map drawn by a student in her advanced biology class.

A FIELD TRIP reveals considerably more than the local ecology, as students in advanced biology meet frustration.

Math courses stimulate student thought and curiosity

As the daily math class begins . . .

"It's either right or wrong. Math is an exacting science, so learn now to be exact and to the point."

"Yes m'am. But my thing's music, and equations just don't sing in my mind."

"You will soon learn to find the area of an ellipse. Using the substitution property of equality, you will know the area of your favorite note."

"Why do you have to prove problems? They either exist or don't exist. Stepping them out elongates the misery and causes nothing but further pain."

"Now observe carefully. We'll prove mathematically how to take off a vest without removing the coat worn over it."

"Great, nothing like a little entertainment. Can this be used for things other than vests?"

"This is worthwhile. When I can stimulate you enough that you are interested in exploring . . ."

"Like when we learned about shapes in geometry! That kind of learning just sticks in my mind. I can't get turned on to congruences. Everyone knows no two figures are alike, much less equal."

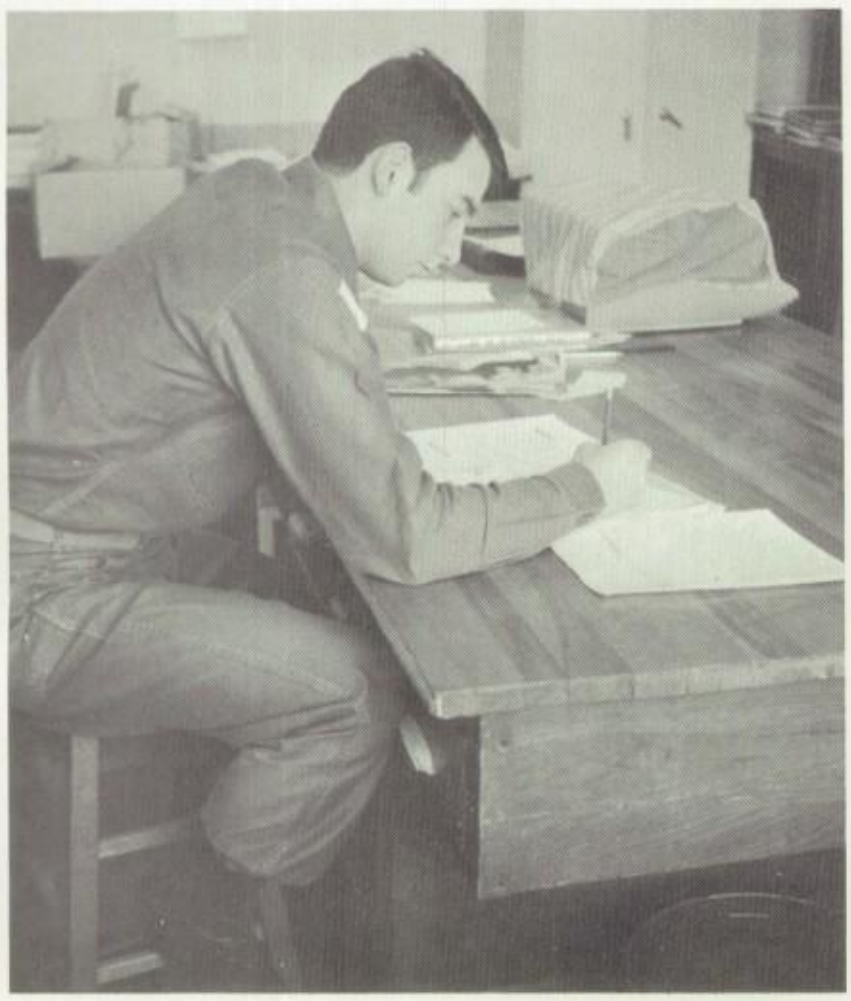
Grimsley Junior Classical League's Kevin Butler

STATE PRESIDENT of JCL, Kevin Butler, has many details to check in his responsibility for the state convention programs.



One of the more interesting scenes last fall was Jack Knight and Kevin Butler robed in traditional Roman garb and preparing for the JCL induction ceremony. Four candles placed on a table were the nucleus for the really impressive ceremony. Singing Strings, an Orchestra group, provided appropriate music. Through the year various afternoon meetings presented a challenging study of the ancient Roman civilization through lectures by guests and members of the association. In December, Saturnalia was celebrated in the orchestra room. This holiday honors Saturn, god of harvest, and traditionally gave the Romans an opportunity to thank the god for teaching them the art of farming. Finally, the Roman "banquet" closed the year. Robed members ate heartily and played joyous games to celebrate.

Kevin Butler, who had been elected state president of JCL in the convention at Chapel Hill last year, was busy for weeks with Mrs. Madlin compiling all of the items for the printing of the convention programs. Then at the 1970 convention, on March 21 at UNC-CH, Kevin presided well and successfully carried out the program.

Future Teachers invite

Through panels, group discussions, and speakers, FTA members learned more about the teaching profession. Members sponsored an assembly in November during American Education week. Dr. Lois Edinger, UNC-G faculty member spoke. As former president of National Education Association, Dr. Edinger spoke from enlightened experience about the opportunities and challenges in teaching and related professions.

In December FTA clubs from Page, Smith, and Grimsley met at Grimsley to hear exchange students in Greensboro high schools tell about education in their countries. Sandstrom Torbjorn, GHS exchange student, was on the program.

Other activities of the Future Teachers included sponsoring a Teacher Appreciation Day. They also participated energetically in an indoor school beautification project. At the end of the year new officers were initiated at a banquet. Mr. Lem Cox, local NCEA president, was the speaker.

Induction into Torchlight, National Honor Society,

TORCHLIGHT MEMBERS, inducted in the spring, 1969: Tally, Beck, Schott, Pemberton, Mims, Truitt, Wilkins, Carruthers, Stam, Stang.

CURIOUS students turn to see who from their home room has been singled out for an honor.

With the advance notices distributed by secretary Laura Truitt, Torchlight, Grimsley's chapter of National Honor Scoiety, met every other week with Robbie Mims presiding. In addition to usual business matters attended to, several changes were voted into effect, including a different plan of presenting the ideals of the society at tapping ceremonies. In December a committee was appointed to examine the society's constitution and make recommendations for updating its provisions.

The society provided tutors for the Student Council's tutoring service, held induction ceremonies in November and February, staged the annual Torchlight Talent Show, and (according to rumor) because of the uncommonly swollen heads of Joe Carruthers, Ted Tally, and Bill Wilkins, appropriated funds for some larger caps for tapping ceremonies.

A major cultural event for the society was the January initiation party, with vice president Bill Wilkins as host, and with advisors Miss Mims and Mrs. Madlin and Principal Mr. Glenn looking on. Dignity was the watchword as new members sang and danced and even tongued to the bottom of a bowl of jello. As the vice president commented later, "We in Torchlight like to keep every thing on a purely intellectual plane."

Many academically talented students receive recognition and awards for outstanding scholarship. One of these awards, the National Merit Scholarship, is available to many high school students each year. Honor students take the National Merit Qualifying Test, and their scores are evaluated to determine Semi-Finalists. Then, after high school recommendations and qualifying college board scores are submitted to the Merit Scholarship Foundation, Semi-Finalists become eligible for Merit Scholarships. There were six Semi-Finalists from Grimsley this year.

An invitation to attend the Governor's School is another honor bestowed upon a small number of academically and artistically talented students. At Salem College for seven weeks each summer, the Governor's School provides an atmosphere of scholarly achievement and cultural enrichment. Areas of study available to students include fine arts, natural and social sciences, mathematics, and English. There were seven Grimsley representatives at the Governor's School last summer.

Playmasters present two comedies at spring festival

CHOOSING a play requires serious attention and many readings.

Around December Playmasters turned to the subject of the annual Spring Drama Festival. Members began to read, study, and argue over plays, with the memory of last year's three hard-earned awards for the production of a Paul Green play. They searched diligently for equally good scripts to start from. At last they decided to produce two comedies, which they cast in open try-outs in January.

Ted Tally directed The Ugly Duckling, with Albright, Steacy, Wilkins, Clark, LeDuc, Murphy, and Whittaker in the cast. Chuck Steacy was the director of the other play, Sunny Morning, with Tally, Huffling, Whittaker, and Thorp making up the cast. Both plays were presented in Charlotte late in February.

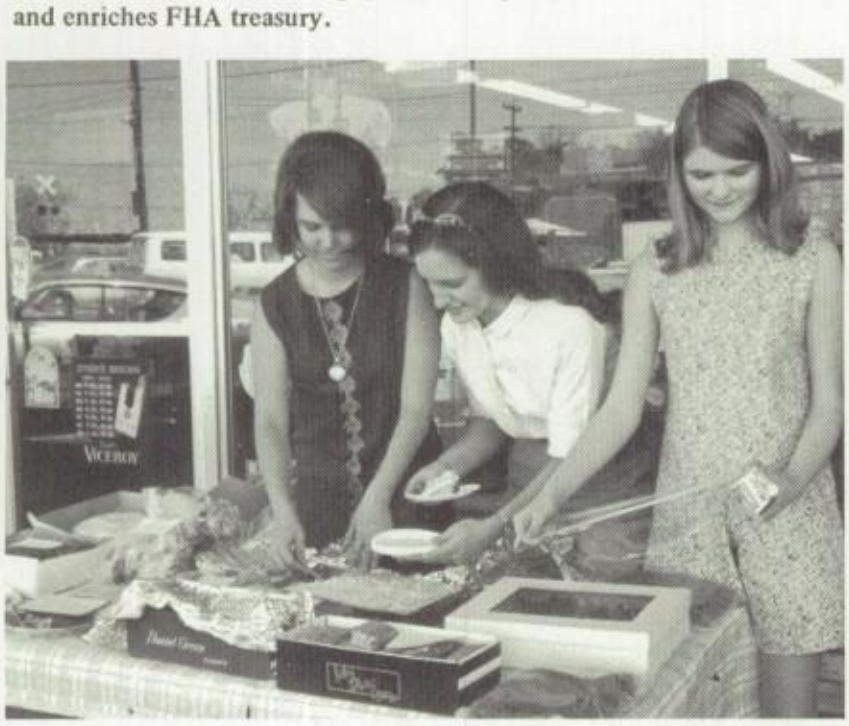
Fashion show and bake sale highlight FHA year

APRIL 1969 Bake Sale brings practical experience and enriches FHA treasury.



On the fourth Monday night of each month, the lights in the Home Economics building shone brightly to welcome the members of Grimsley's chapter of Future Homemakers. With each girl bringing a dish of her own production, an appetizing meal and program occupied an interesting two hours.

The Mother-Daughter banquet this year included a fashion show of the daughters' own making and a speaker. Still another special program was the Senior Tea, with the mothers in attendance once again. Senior members of the club were honored and sadly said goodbye for the last official time.

Other events this year included a week-end retreat for planning, a bake sale with the profits going to purchase an appliance for the home economics department, and the district and state conventions. Plans were made and carried out for observing the National FHA Week, April 5-11. With new national headquarters planned, Grimsley's members sent their contribution, knowing as sensible future homemakers that every penny counts.

COO Club shares earnings with needy at Christmas

Students enrolled in the Cooperative Office Occupations were also members of a COO Club. They found both programs challenging, because of the numerous demands from a varied and busy schedule. Participating in informative field trips to several outstanding business firms, they gained further knowledge of the business world.

COO Club members conducted their service project through the office of the United Fund Volunteer Bureau. Members contributed from their earnings to help provide Christmas food and toys for needy families.

Members of ICT classes functioned also as a club – a chapter of the national organization, VICA. Meetings each month brought out the most dedicated members, whose club efforts culminated in the generous gift of food and toys to a needy family at Christmas.

Delegates attended two regional meetings, one at Dudley, with ten delegates attending, and one at Elkin, to which two delegates went with Mr. Trost. Most important meeting of the year was the District gathering at West Forsyth High School, where members entered contests in various phases of ICT and VICA activities.

The Scrapbook kept by enthusiastic members of machine shop VICA is filled with pictures of their busy time there. Snapshots record their regular meetings (and the collecting of fines from absentees). There are pictures of a hearty steak dinner they shared in December, like another one they are already planning for May. Pictures portray boys working expertly on parts or repairs for their homes or their cars, or repairing items brought by teachers and mending bicycles to be given to needy boys. Not only is it obvious that they enjoy their VICA activities, but it is clear that they are gaining valuable experience for the future.

Inspector-General calls Grimsley unit "outstanding"

At GHS the Marine JROTC is in its second of a three-year program emphasizing citizenship and leadership. Last year the cadets were issued uniforms and taught the rules of conduct, exercises of command, marksmanship, and drill. A special review was presented in the stadium last May to honor retiring principal A. P. Routh. Ronny Dick, the Corps' highest officer, directed the complicated maneuvers before an appreciative Mr. Routh and friends.

This year the boys and their officers were busy all fall preparing for an official inspection on November 11. The Inspector-General came and was impressed by the corps' enthusiasm, calling their performance for him "outstanding." Soon afterward the unit led the Greensboro Christmas parade.

The Color Guard has attracted attention and admiration to the extent that at least once a week some civic or sports group invites this group, with its flair and precision, to perform. Col. Booker believes that the program's third year will bring increased enrollment and even greater approval.

ALERT ATTENTION to a commanding officer plays a vital part in the success of any group. Here M/Sgt. Zales gives instructions just before an important inspection.

IN WOODSHOP boys develop a craftsmanship that brings pride and pleasure.

MR. THOMAS PARKS, wood work instructor, suggests an appropriate finish for an almost completed small table.

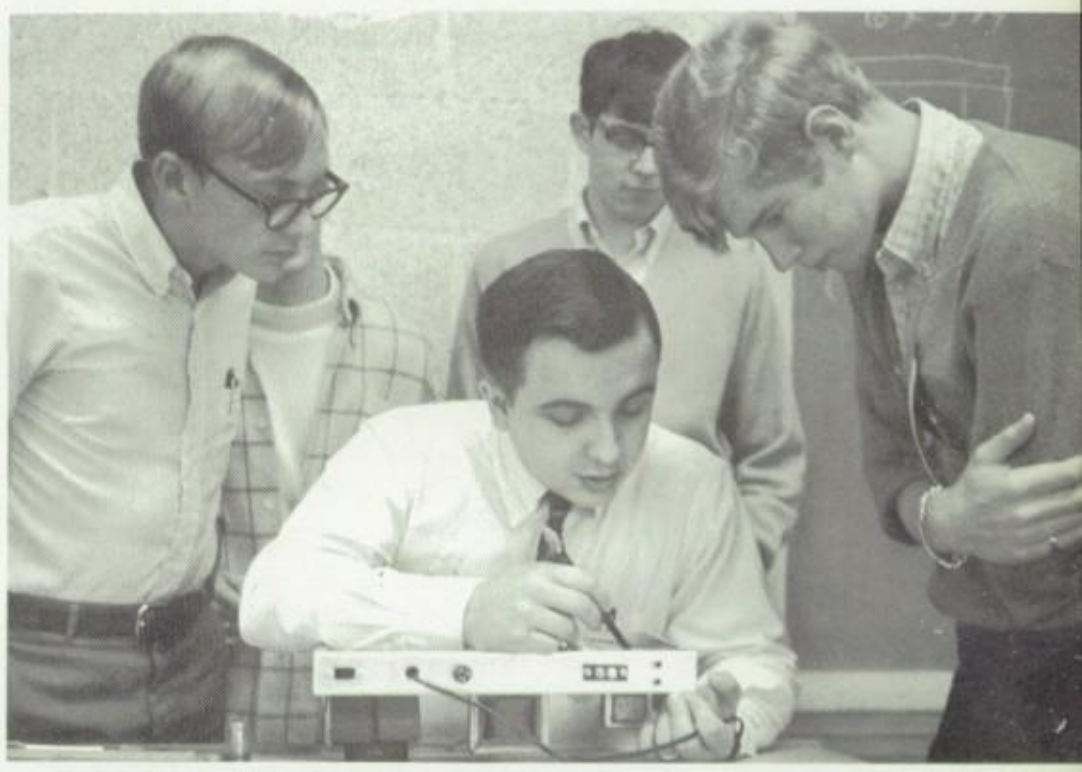
GHS boys acquire valuable skills and appreciations

Wood shop, like machine shop and electronics, prepares students for possible future occupations. Boys in wood shop classes display their skill as they build tables, cabinets, desks, and many other types of fine furniture. Mr. Parks encourages individual achievement and pride in making an article of beauty as well as practical use.

Drafting is a course requiring skill and precision. It involves an exacting hand and mathematical accuracy in drawing one-dimensional, two-dimensional, and three-dimensional figures. Each of Mr. Darnell's drafting students needs the ability to concentrate – and a good eraser.

Fundamentals of shop work and the care and correct use of many machines are taught in machine shop. Because of the hazards of using complex equipment, a boy must be sixteen or over to enroll. The boys most often apply their new skills to repairing their cars.

In electronics classes boys learn the basic properties of electricity and wiring. They are introduced for the first time to tube and transistor theory, and the course also includes the presentation of digital computer properties. Students construct models as one means of applying their knowledge. For many it is the beginning of a career in the wide-open field of electronics.



MR. ROBERT MAYS gets full attention as he points out an intricate detail in the construction of a radio.

MR. EDWARD SUTTON makes use of a variety of tools and objects to explain an important process to his machine shop students.

Recipe for Home Economics curriculum at Grimsley Senior High School –

Ingredients: Home Economics courses 1, 2, and 3; a semester of Child Development; instruction in Family Life.

Directions: Start with a basic sewing and cooking class the first year. Blend in a practice wedding and reception composed in Family Life. To add flavor, fold in a luncheon prepared by a third year Home Economics class and served to the PTSA executive board. For variety add timely demonstrations of the very newest infrared oven or laundry methods; or try a baby shower for an expectant mother, given by the Child Development girls; or send girls to supermarkets to try their hand at buying wisely and economically.

To mix: Blend the ingredients at the average of one course per semester over a three-year period.

Recipe Yield: A curriculum with the capacity to serve the interests and the education of a large percentage of Grimsley students.

Three vocational courses — COO, DE and ICT — offer

MRS. KATHERINE McENTIRE, COO Coordinator, poses before a poster that symbolizes her frequent tours and her current plans.

Three very special vocational courses gave many GHS students actual experience in a real job each day, as well as classroom training and field trips to enhance the learning for a career. For those interested in office work, Cooperative Office Occupations was the course. For any student interested in such jobs as dental assistant, mechanic, or nurses' aide, Industrial Cooperative Training was full of opportunities. Distributive Education gave experience to workers in all phases of the distribution of goods, from the producer to the consumer. Around 170 students profited by the opportunities in these cooperative courses and in marketing.

SKILLS

To instrumental and vocal

Band leaders hear "Steps," orchestra instructors tune instruments and call for challenges, and vocal teachers listen to phrasing and tone. But these are only a few of the many ways in which Grimsley's thirteen music teachers spend their time each week giving truly individual attention to hundreds of students. Thus the orchestra, a symphony band, a concert band, and a stage band, plus several advanced or beginning singing groups, turn into musicians of near-professional quality. In every area of the music instruction, public performances given throughout the year are evidence of teacher dedication and ability and pupil effort.

Grimsley's Symphony Band dominates All-State with DEMANDING daily rehearsals, as well as many hours of private instruction, produce symphonic precision.

The playing of the Symphony Band executing Herbert Hazelman's brilliant stratagems with flair and precision brought nothing but praises this year. With such stars as Entrekin on trumpet, Tucker on clarinet, and Truitt on flute, the potential was unlimited. This year saw the best coaching staff ever, with Mr. Decker drawing rich liquid sounds from clarinets, Mr. Murph pounding the percussionists and saxes, and two newcomers, Mr. Sampson and Mr. Booth, working with the stomach-shaking brasses.

The first challenge to Mr. Hazelman's horns came with the fall concert, immediately followed by the important Band Directors' Clinic, which met at Grimsley this year. After another public performance, many made the grueling ride to Fuquay-Varina to compete in the All-State try-outs. Grimsley dominated All-State, placing forty-three musicians on two bands.

The year's activities crescendoed to a climax in preparations for a trip to Nassau, this summer.

HOME GAMES during basketball season offer the additional pleasure of the Pep Band's toe-tapping rhythms.

The eighty members of the Concert Band, directed by Mr. Edgar Rooker, demonstrated hard work and talent in four joint concerts with the Symphony Band. Two members of the Concert Band won seats in All-State.

To the Grimsley Marching Band, football season meant a strenuous regimen of afternoon practices every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday. Under the field direction of Drum Majors Mortensen and Tucker, this band performed at all home football games and marched in Veterans' Day and Christmas parades.

The Pep Band, or "Whirlwind Symphony," consisted of twenty-four spirited, dedicated musicians who performed fight songs, jazz, and show tunes at home basketball games. The Pep Band used money earned by playing for the Carolina Cougars to buy new music.

The Choir's schedule this year was heavier than last, with Fall, Christmas, and Spring concerts, performances of Barbara Allen with the band, participation in city and state festivals, and numerous presentations for civic and church groups throughout Greensboro.

The Choral Department has traditionally provided a part of the cultural background for all of Grimsley's students. Under the new director, Mr. Ron Hill, and his assistant, Mr. Sammy Doyle, the traditions of excellence in performance and of showmanship have continued. Some emphasis has been shifted, however, from the Queen's Men, discontinued this year, to other groups such as the Madrigals.

The Madrigal Singers, tuned to Polly Teague's pitch pipe, were invited to give numerous concerts in the city. This group, meeting to rehearse at seventh period daily, was recognized as one of the most professional high school groups in Greensboro. The Fourth and Fifth Annual Institutes for Small Ensembles, meeting in Chapel Hill, provided the opportunity for the Madrigals to rehearse and perform with other similar groups from throughout North Carolina.

The Choir elected Bill Wilkins president this year. The accompanist for the Choir, and leader of the Madrigals, was Polly Teague.

MRS. RUTH S. RICHARDSON enjoys teaching art.

Water colors glide in delicate abstracts over paper. Clay forms pleasing shapes. A loom hums as fingers weave colorful designs of wool or flax. By leaving the choice of medium up to the individual, each student is encouraged to use his originality in developing a technique. The art curriculum at Grimsley offers three years of concentrated study. Students prepare study sketches of assigned subjects each week, while they work on projects such as ink sketches, lithographs, and oil paintings.

Third and fourth-year art students annually celebrate "Barney Day" – a special secretive holiday understood fully only by the artists who celebrate it, but one which appears to arouse a great amount of energy, ingenuity and glee among the artists. Results always appear as phenomena such as massive sculptures, assembled spontaneously on the campus, or surprisingly colorful abstract paintings, created by one mad swipe at a canvas by each artist, or – as this year – dazzling kites that were truly "out of this world."

with craft and color artists celebrate "Barney Day"

For some of the young artists the year's highlight is the news, after weeks of work in a medium and careful matting for hanging, then more suspenseful time spent waiting to hear the outcome, that some of them have won awards in the Scholastic Art Contest.

AN ART STUDENT'S style grows in distinction with steady practice.

IMPROVISING with places and subjects is one way to train an artist's eye and sureness of touch.

Individual achievement is stressed in Girls' Phys Ed

Girl's physical education offered a challenging curriculum of various sports and skills to students enrolled in all levels of its four-year program. New phases added to the program are bowling, participation in the state golf tournament, and entrance into the Guilford County Basketball Conference. The program includes many opportunities for participation in intramural sports and varsity teams. This year Grimsley girls' won many athletic awards for outstanding performances in competitive events. GHS girls' golf team were champions at the first Girls' State Golf Tournament at Chapel Hill.

Shirts and skin plot against each other in 40-degree weather. Full classes take much-needed showers, only to find nary a towel in the place. Savory odors arise from a first-period fugitive from a bar of soap. Where could such atrocities happen? Only in the Physical Education department of Grimsley Senior High School.

Team sports are found appropriate and inappropriate to the seasons, depending on a coach's temperament. Football, softball, basketball, and "running-laps-is-such-a-ball" are annual favorites. In all seriousness, however, a big thanks goes out from the boys to the dedicated coaches, without whom phys ed classes wouldn't be so much fun.

MR. WILDER explains the intricacies of a car's engine to a passive student who would just rather get behind it.

A student learns many things in Driver Training. He starts out with classroom training for six weeks and during his study period he gets to actually DRIVE! The best part of the course is this behind-the-wheel feeling of power and of steadily growing confidence. Through it all there are many opportunities for each student driver to do foolish things, or to do very expert driving and be considered the best driver (teacher excluded) in the car.

Student drivers who've been through the course freely offer a list of the most likely exigencies to beware of:

1. Having to give hand signals on a rainy day.
2. Stalling the car in an intersection.
3. Driving over a curb while turning the corner.
4. Having a flat tire.
5. Denting a fender on a middle-of-the-street STOP sign.
6. Making a left turn on Campus Drive during the lunch period.

Driver Training has its fun, its problems, its triumph

DRIVER EDUCATION at Grimsley is the responsibility of Mr. Thacker, Mr. Wilder, and Mr. Guin (standing), and Mr. McKeel (kneeling), all of whom appear to be considering some of its dangers.

Running, sweating, filing, meeting, writing, or just watching . . .

. . . school activities give daily humdrum refreshing dimension

Blessed time slipping away,
Are we conscious of the passing?
More than just time, what of the Satisfaction of going an extra step?
Be it in a garden plot, on the debate floor,
Or, more simply still, in one of endless meetings,
The participating people make the activity.
Through them its value is measured.
As the outlets for bodies full of energy,
Our activities switch us onto a
Broadening, realistic life at GHS.

ACTIVITIES

Two important Student Council projects this year

STUDENT PRESIDENT Jimmy Palmer brings a thoughtful expression to his listeners as he clarifies an important point.

Most important project undertaken this year by the Student Council was the rewriting of the Constitution. Recognizing the need for a more modern set of rules, the Council appointed a committee composed of both Council and general student body members. These were to do the actual revising and report to the Council in early spring. Another project begun this year was a student park to be located some distance behind the library, next to the playing field. As soon as weather permitted, tractors, rakes, and strong backs were volunteered and the dirty work began.

The Council, in cooperation with Torchlight, continued its tutoring program this year and expanded its system of opinion polls. The Council again sponsored Homecoming, the Holiday Dance, and the Prom.

The change from seventh period to first for study and meeting time did not disturb Council activities, but it did help to remind many of the forgetful representatives to give their weekly reports. It was through these regular reports to home rooms that the student body was kept informed of their Council's plans and accomplishments.

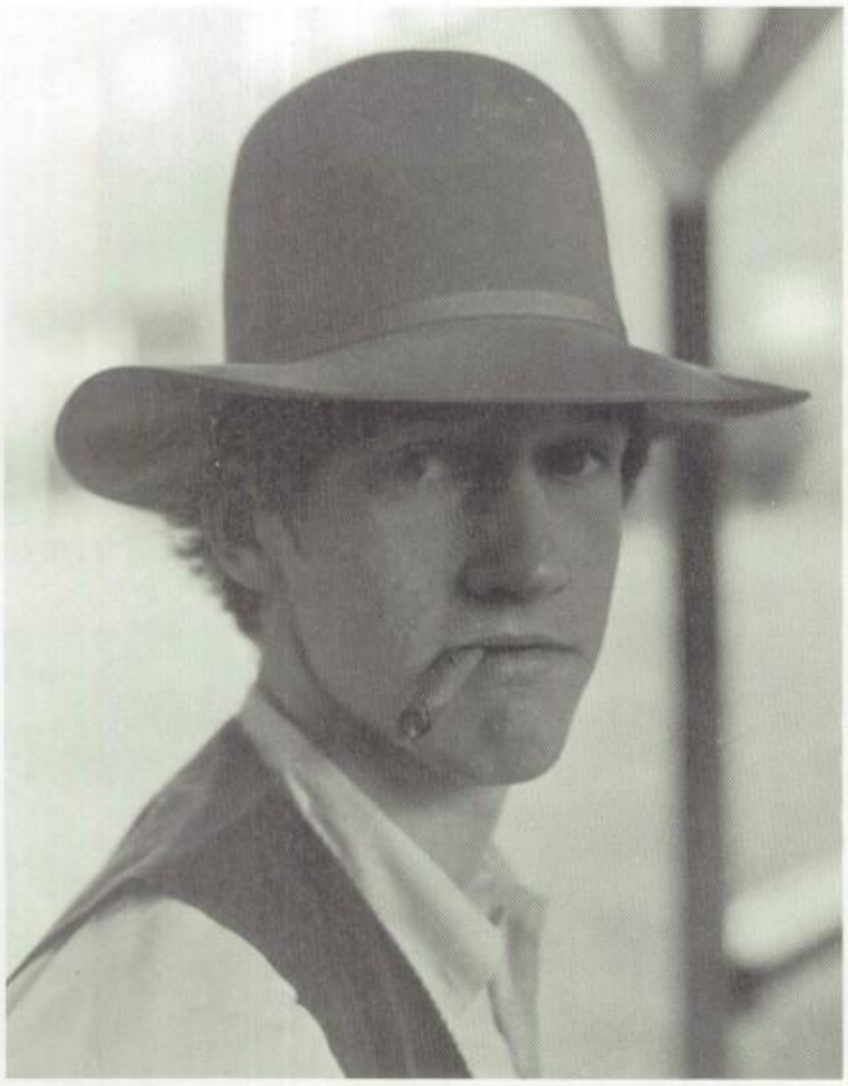
Stout heads and organizes Grimsley's traffic squad



COWBOY LEGARE displays his strong, silent look.

Taking full advantage of their privileges as senior traffic squad, the 1969-70 patrols helped lost sophomores find elevators and fourth floors while preventing juniors and seniors from using the wrong, but quickest, routes around campus. The amiable boys were distinguished from the common loiterers by outstretched arms which were supposed to keep students from entering exit doors but often caught a fist or a whole body instead. On spirit days, the squad did their best to help out the mood with a variety of symbolic hats, boots, and even cowboy outfits. Ferd Stout, head of the traffic fighters, roamed throughout the school, giving directions and help when it was and was not called for by his loyal followers. In attempting to control the waves of student traffic, some 2200 strong, the boys faced near defeat on sloppy days when it rained or snowed. Nevertheless, they performed duties and endured their early dismissal privileges with skill, of a type, and patience.

Grimsley Bus Drivers safely transport 3000 daily

The most used alarm clocks belonging to Grimsley students go off somewhere between 5:30 and 6:00 a.m. each school morning in the homes of the GHS bus-drivers. After the metallic awakening, the boys procede to prepare themselves to face the loud morning chattering of the more than 3,000 student total they transport daily. Although there were only 31 buses assigned to Grimsley this year, 43 drivers were kept busy. Mr. Andy Canady, Assistant Principal, discussed the many problems the drivers run into, during homeroom daily.

There were many advantages to being a bus driver this year despite the early hours and problems. The boys made an average of $130 monthly, after careful self-evaluation of hours spent on the job. Courtesy was the theme of everyday's driving run, and with this adoption into their daily mental thoughts, the boys successfully and safely transported their precious loads of energetic students to respective schools.

District library group elects Helen Ross president

During all seven periods of the usual day, Grimsley's busy library assistants did their best to satisfy the needs of teachers and impatient students. Thirty-five people gave up their study halls in order to help keep library facilities operating at the highest possible level of efficiency. The joys of shelving books, pushing time machine buttons, searching through the stacks of magazines, and stamping books were evident only to these dedicated workers. There were even times when the good assistants had to help with carpet cleaning and window washing. To keep the library open longer for students some of the more devoted assistants even gave extra time before and after school.

Being, literally, politically involved, Grimsley's Helen Ross served as president of the North Carolina High School Library Association, North Central District, and will preside at this district convention next fall.

On the local level weekly Wednesday morning staff meetings for discussions of the library rules and procedures, and occasional dinner meetings served to mold the assistants into a unified group.

School Beautiful initiates study hall campus clean-up

"Get out of bed, sleepy students; it's time for the School Beautiful workday." And they never stopped, even for cold winter mornings. Chairman Carol Pleasants kept a continuous schedule of events popping at students every week. With the initiation of a new germ, the Litterbug, on campus, students enthusiastically joined in to fight him off.

Bi-monthly executive board meetings held at Carol's house were used to present plans, organize skits, and report on past projects. Through the network of some fifteen standing committees, more students were involved than ever before totaling almost 400.

Having set all aims toward winning the city-wide high school competition again this year, Miles Thompson and Danny Holsenbeck shared the responsibility of making sure each project resulted in positive action and response. Grimsley, after winning valuable Anti-Litter Week points, dug into the trash problem on campus, keeping the grounds as clean as possible. Spring brought a glorious cloud of blue and white flowers, gracing garden plots and proving the conscious effort of the student body to combat the Litterbug.

YRC plans new games and contests for Twirp Day

With the aid of Mr. Snipes, this year's Youth Recreation Council settled down to weekly Wednesday meetings. This was the first year YRC did not have a study hall planning period, but despite early year problems the Council operated effectively and efficiently. The YRC-sponsored Homecoming activities began at 5:00 a.m. for the clubs showing a display and included the football game that night and a dance the following night featuring the Okaysions. All open houses and special dances throughout the year were decorated appropriately by the creative members of this standing committee of Student Council. For the first time, YRC took over all activities for TWIRP. The day included games, contests, and red-and-white cupid children. The valentine girls had a day of switchery when they opened doors and told the men of their lives what to do. Pam Ricketts, Chairman, and her Council had a fine record of a job well done during 1969-70.

GYC sponsors music festival in Aycock Auditorium

Several new projects, added to many of those now becoming traditional, contributed to GYC's best and most influential year yet. Newly elected members began working and planning last spring, which turned into action when school started. All the members were expected to help with the redecorating of The House on S. Edgeworth Street. When finally completed in October, this facility served for small group meetings and as a general working nucleus. One of the new ideas initiated this year was the Fall Music Festival in Aycock Auditorium co-sponsored with WCOG. Teens from all over the city gathered for a Sunday afternoon of entertainment. Jack Knight and Carl McNeill co-hosted a Sunday afternoon variety show on WFMY-TV. With auditions beginning in early February, the final performance of the Teenage Talent Show was March 14. Prizes were raised $1000 over last year's awards. Throughout the year, GYC kept communication lines open between high schools and the people of Greensboro. An ex-officio member of GYC, Suzy Levy from Grimsley, served as State Youth Council Vice President.

A large percentage of Grimsley students participate in community activities. These activities cover many areas from candy stripers to disc jockeys. In addition to the hundreds of GHS students who have part-time jobs, there are hundreds who perform voluntary services. These services enable the students to feel rewarded by showing they have helped others. By serving others, many students have made a mark for themselves. This gives a feeling of independence and a sense of maturity.

Community activities permit students to broaden their interests in a given field and at the same time meet new people and share ideas.

A larger size gives WHIRLIGIG new character

WHIRLIGIG'S Assistant Business Manager Noell, Business Manager Pleasants, and Art Editor Wooten combine efforts on novel posters to promote the fall sale.

In the spring of 1969 the WHIRLIGIG staff met for the first time. The general concensus was, "Boy are we gonna put out a great book!" As the weeks moved by, it came time to draw layouts. As usual there was great confusion.

"Now tell me again, how do you tell an inch from a quarter of an inch?"

School ended, layouts were drawn, and the staff had a summer of freedom. With fall, the staff settled down for a long concentrated effort.

"Oh! I don't know what I'm going to do or how I'm going to do it. Get to work and do it like I told you to!"

"Bill Baby, tell me again, what's the difference between an inch and a quarter of an inch?"

"Now that I've finished all the copy and captions, typed them on the pages, and written all the running heads, what else do you want me to do?"

"You're nothing but an OGRE!"

As the year progressed, these and other questions filled the air, but thanks to a patient editor and a nerve-wracked advisor, the yearbook made it to press. As the staff watched the familiar figure of Mr. Fleming carrying the final pages of the book to the printing plant, they all gave a sigh of relief to know that all they had to look forward to was seeing the completed book.

"They say he's one of the best in aerial photos."

"Aw, come on. Please tell me what color is the book gonna be?"

"Light chartreuse with orange stripes and purple pokadots, lettered in brilliant pink."

"Sounds good. At least it's different."

From room 410 and the special High Life closet came the industrious noises of the seventh period staff piecing together another weekly paper. Steve Grossman, editor, and Miss Lovett were trying to coordinate reports and fiery editorials, perhaps burning their fingers black, with smoke and ink.

The outstanding attraction of High Life this year was the changes in content and policy. To achieve a sharper identification with readers, the staff introduced new articles with greater freedom of expression. Reports on varied events and from diverse points of view included articles on drugs, the draft, the war in Viet Nam, and even current music trends.

Through mutual cooperation and compromise, the service club presidents met as a group to settle disputes, learn of new projects, and coordinate their efforts to serve Grimsley in the most efficient way possible. It was in the bi-monthly Interclub Council meetings that such joint services as the Sunday parking lot sweeps were planned. Working under the constitution written by the Greensboro City Schools Administration, the service clubs carefully initiated activities complying with the established rules, often checking out suggested plans before putting them into action. The 3:30 meetings in room 304 provided an easy outlet for School Beautiful and GYC information and kept an open door of communication with faculty and the community.

New Anchor Club initiates day of service for teachers

Despite the toughness of the first full year, the girls in the Anchor Club worked together to provide worthwhile service projects for the community and school. With Caldcleaugh Community Center as their pet, the girls spent many hours getting to know the children by giving Thanksgiving fruit baskets and a party and a Christmas party complete with favors.

A teachers' service day brought challenge and laughs to the girls as they spent a funfilled day of volunteer services for the favorite people on campus: our Instructors.

Spring came early and fast for the members of Anchor Club, who were responsible for planning the convention of the Pilot International Club, their advertising club, and the Junior Anchor clubs.

Leo Club brings back traditional Whirlie Victory Flag

The Leo Club began its second year of service by reinstating the Whirlie Victory Flag, as a traditional symbol of school spirit. President Larry Lucas and secretary Johnny Straughn bought materials and designed the flag, which was sewn by home-ec student Mary Landry. By selling a thousand "Go Whirlie" bumper stickers, the club raised funds for other projects.

In January, Leo members began a campaign to relieve the muddy, sloppy conditions that covered the GHS campus during rainy weather. This campaign, nicknamed "Project Rice Paddy," was greatly appreciated by thousands of formerly soaked feet.

The club was also active in tag-day drives, in intramurals, and in assisting the Greensboro Lions Club in its annual broom sale.

Civinettes bake cookies for soldiers at Fort Bragg

This was the first year the Civinettes' service project had numerical value. A new point system, devised to keep every member working, gave two points as the highest for even selling fifty pounds of fruit cake. Around Grimsley, blackboards, worth two points each week, shone like glass from underneath Civinette sponges. After finding themselves adept at cleaning the girls also polished trophies and weeded their formal rose garden.

Community action included baking thousands of home-made cookies for the men at Fort Bragg during the holidays and presenting a variety show at several local homes for the aged.

Activities with the brother Jr. Civitan Club included monthly church attendance. Both clubs sent representatives to the district meeting held November 22 and the annual Convention that took place in Durham May 1, 2, and 3.

Starting in the summer of 1969, the Civitans solicited advertisements for their annual GHS Handbook to be given to sophomores and new students during their first at Grimsley. This guide contained information on school policies, tradition, organizations, and regulations.

Halloween brought 900 pounds of candy into the hands of the club and boosted the treasury by over $400. With these funds the club was able to give one hundred pounds of Christmas goodies to the Lexington Orphanage and fifty pounds to the Glenwood Methodist Church for their Christmas project.

Once monthly, the boys joined in worship with their sister club, the Civinettes.

This year's club will proudly leave behind an ample treasury for next year and memories of worthwhile activities, hours in a School Beautiful plot, and fun at the annual Civitan Convention held in Durham in May.

EXCHANGE CLUB MEMBERS use savage energy in cleaning up their School Beautiful plot.

This year the Exchange Club spread Grimsley T-shirts across some 500 backs, stretching their patience when the order was fouled up, but, upon final distribution, accumulating a nice profit.

With the funds to support projects in the treasury, the Exchange Club adopted a three-year old Nigerian girl and voted, in January, to buy 100 raffle tickets as a contribution to the Morganton School for the Deaf. The club also investigated the city-wide "Save the Zoo" Campaign.

President David Poole attended the state convention of the senior Exchange Clubs in January, where he participated in a panel discussion urging the senior clubs to organize junior clubs in their cities. The "selling" was rewarded by the enthusiastic response of many of the senior clubs.

Y-TEENS SERVE as school receptionists.

September brought over 1500 articles of clothing to the Guilford County Welfare Department, collected and contributed by the Grimsley Y-Teens. Thanksgiving food donations went to the Inter-City Ministry, and during Christmas the girls joined with brother club Hi-Y in giving a party for underprivileged children. The Greensboro YMCA and the N.C. School for the Deaf profited from bake sales during the winter season. Eight girls attended the World Fellowship Services in Washington, D.C. When 2,000 bags of Hershey's chocolate kisses arrived, the girls faithfully carried them through school and around neighborhoods, promising to give them to anybody for only a small fee. With the money earned from the sales, the Y-Teens, together with the Interact Club, bought a P.A. system for the library.

Jaycettes organize Buddy System to aid sophomores

One of the biggest events on the Junior Jaycettes' calendar this year was the Christmas Seal Dance held at Bessemer Community Center. They sponsored this dance and made sure everything was taken care of ahead of time. Another community service project was the GGO, April 1-5, where the girls sold programs, gave directions, and joined the crowds. In October, the girls attended a Saturday workshop with other Jr. Jaycettes. Here they caught up on the activities of other clubs and shared ideas for service and money-making projects. During Christmas, the club visited a family in the city, taking gifts and food. These were the girls that scrubbed desks every month, venturing into a sticky mess of bubble gum and creative drawings left by some seven different people during one day. The new members, admitted just in time to help sell the famous Just-a-Note stationery, went through a miserable night of mushy Jello and water, proving their genuine desire to serve at GHS.

Jaycees give $300 scholarship to senior member

Sponsored by the Junior Jaycees, the Whirlie-of-the-Week Award honored outstanding athletes from all classes and in all sports. That crazy Whirlie Bird mascot that dances with the cheerleaders every game came from the ranks of the club, too. Even the black bulletin board in the main hall was kept up-to-date by the active members of this club.

In the community the Jr. Jaycees worked closely with their father club, the Greensboro Jaycees, in Sunday paper drives and light bulb sales. The outstanding event in all Jaycees' calendars was the annual GGO, where each boy spent over twenty hours selling programs, running errands, and watching the pros from the best positions on the course.

New key rings, spelling Grimsley, lovingly passed through the hands of club members as they worked toward the $300 scholarship for a senior member. Only after participation in the services of the community, did the boys earn the privilege of lively hours and hearty comradeship at the annual convention in High Point. It was a good year.

Seniorettes finance sidewalk behind Science Building

Over 2400 CRUNCH candy bars passed through the hot, smeary hands of the Seniorettes, quickly melting into profits to be used for service projects during the year. Selling gold initials, another money-making project, introduced style into many parts of school life.

Projects this year included providing a Thanksgiving dinner for a family; giving toys, food, and clothes to another family; and planning a two-year campus improvement in cooperation with School Beautiful to pave a sidewalk behind the Science building.

The girls held weekly meetings in homes and at the Women's Club where their talents for talking out of turn increased the treasury by a nickel per reprimand. The group provided entertainment for their sponsoring club in January and attended the statewide Sub-Junior Jamboree held in August in Raleigh.

SUB-JUNIORS do their share for GHS beauty.

The Sub-Junior Women's Club started their year off right with an apple for every teacher during National Education Week. A book, dedicated by the club, added to the collection of volumes in Grimsley's library during National Library Week.

Outside the school, the girls worked with their departmental system, lending service to each of six divisions during the year. This included fitting 35 ditty bags for U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam for Christmas and sponsoring a bake sale in January for the "Save the Zoo" effort. Two high points of the year were the annual Jamboree of Sub-Junior Women's Clubs held in August and parent Junior Women's Club's yearly Benefit Bridge. In August 1969, Carole Huffman was elected Vice-President of the State club organization.

The O. Henry Juniors found their brother club, Key Club, extremely helpful this year in promoting projects and planning joint meetings. Together, the two clubs contributed food and clothes to an underprivileged family at Christmas. The joint initiations provided a funny day and hilarious night for all the old members, but some of the new clubbers weren't as happy.

Within the club itself, a yearbook was published containing such information as the constitution, telephone numbers, rules, and state officers. For a community service project, the OHJ's made high school work chests by collecting paper, pencils, rules, and books to be sent to Vietnam in the spring. A witty young faculty advisor, Mrs. Reece, kept a firm hand on the girl's activities, lending help and advice whenever it was needed. Excellent programs and continuous service to the school and community brought satisfaction to all the club members.

Key Club winner of School Beautiful stocking contest

For the first time in several years the school directory, published by the Key Club, did not come as a Christmas present to the faculty and student body, but was delivered in early November. Again this year, the members swept the stadium after football games, often working over thirty hours during one weekend. Another traditional service project was the distribution of Alma Mater cards to sophomores.

During the Christmas season, the Key Club provided over sixty gifts and dinner to a family of thirteen. The Key Club won the School Beautiful Christmas stocking contest with a contribution of $50 that later went to the Empty Stocking Fund.

The boys' abilities to work brought high bids at the Greensboro Kiwanis Club's "slave auction". The proceeds went to a scholarship fund for a senior club member. Other activities with the parent club-included sending representatives to weekly meetings and help with projects.

Shapely Charioteers attract crowd at fashion show

As the winning basketball season drew to a close, the Charioteers tied a star-studded variety of the blue-and-white spirit streamers to Grimsley car radio antennas. These flapping streamers appeared every Friday afternoon before home football and basketball games, adding excitement and noise to the usual TGIF spirits.

The girls learned after much practice on Sunday mornings that the only way to usher the patients at a local hospital to Chapel was in the elevators. The wheelchairs weren't too safe on the stairs!

Two events during Christmas kept the girls busy. They sorted gifts for the Empty Stocking Fund's annual drive and ushered at the performance of Handel's Messiah held at the Greensboro Memorial Auditorium.

The annual Charioteer fashion show, March 17 at the Christ Methodist Church, once again drew a record crowd for an evening of spring fashions, door prizes, and socializing. The show traditionally sponsored by Laurie's, was the club's money-making project.

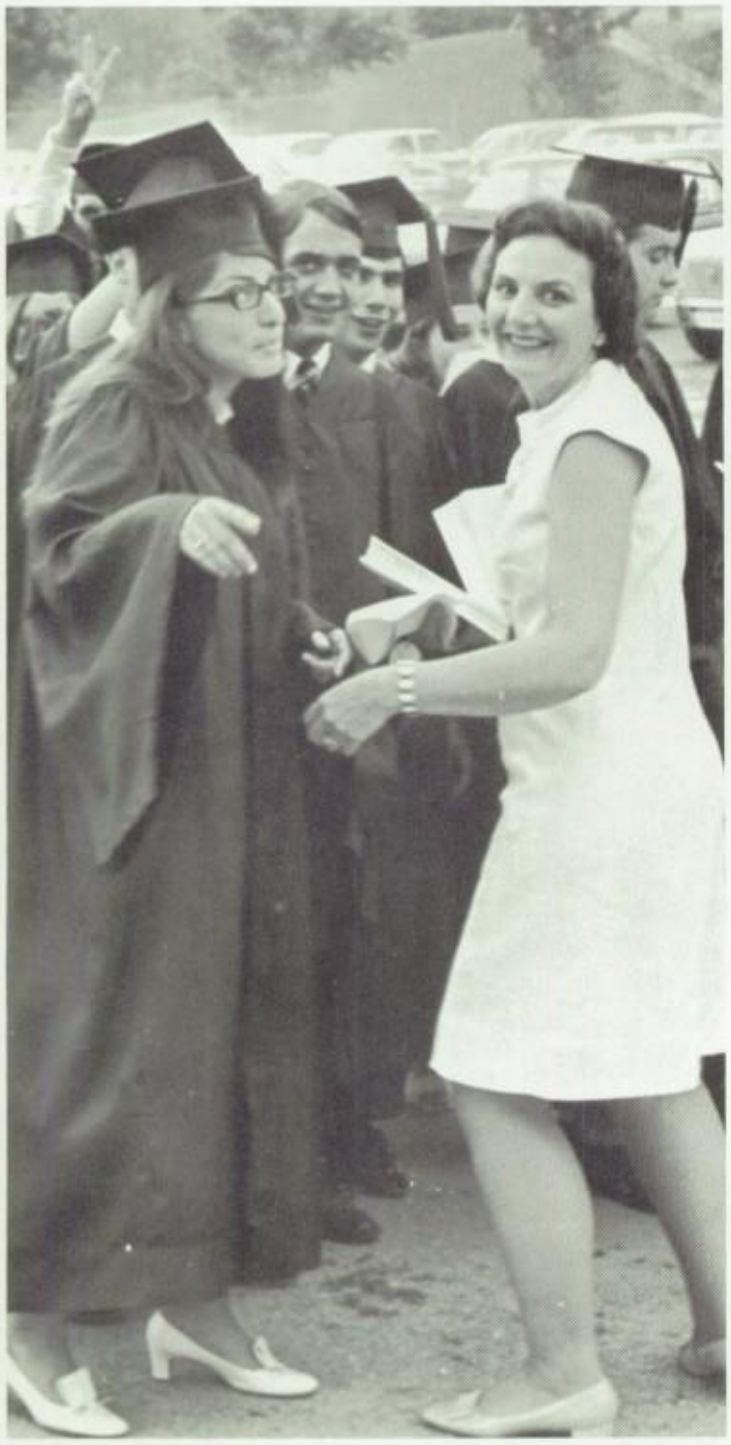
GHS 1970 — a year of activities and new awareness



LIFE MOVES zestfully on at GHS, whether at football games, above, at pep rallies, below, or at graduation, left. No moment here is ever dull, to the student or teacher who is aware.

On the move. This was Grimsley 1970. We took interest, participated, benefited. It wasn't always easy. It was often discouraging. But we struggled through, and many of us retained both physical and mental health. We were prodded to investigate, show our school spirit, come to School Beautiful, vote, hold the noise down, come to meetings, sign petitions, yell louder at pep rallies and games, show our artistic abilities, and, of course, make better grades. Most of the time we complied. Some wore costumes for pep days and School Beautiful days. Some satisfied their creative skill in art or shop. We celebrated TWIRP, Christmas, New Years, and Easter. We cheered, we supported the team. Some people sank in exhaustion from all the activities. But in the end the seniors graduated and the underclassmen moved up to take their place.

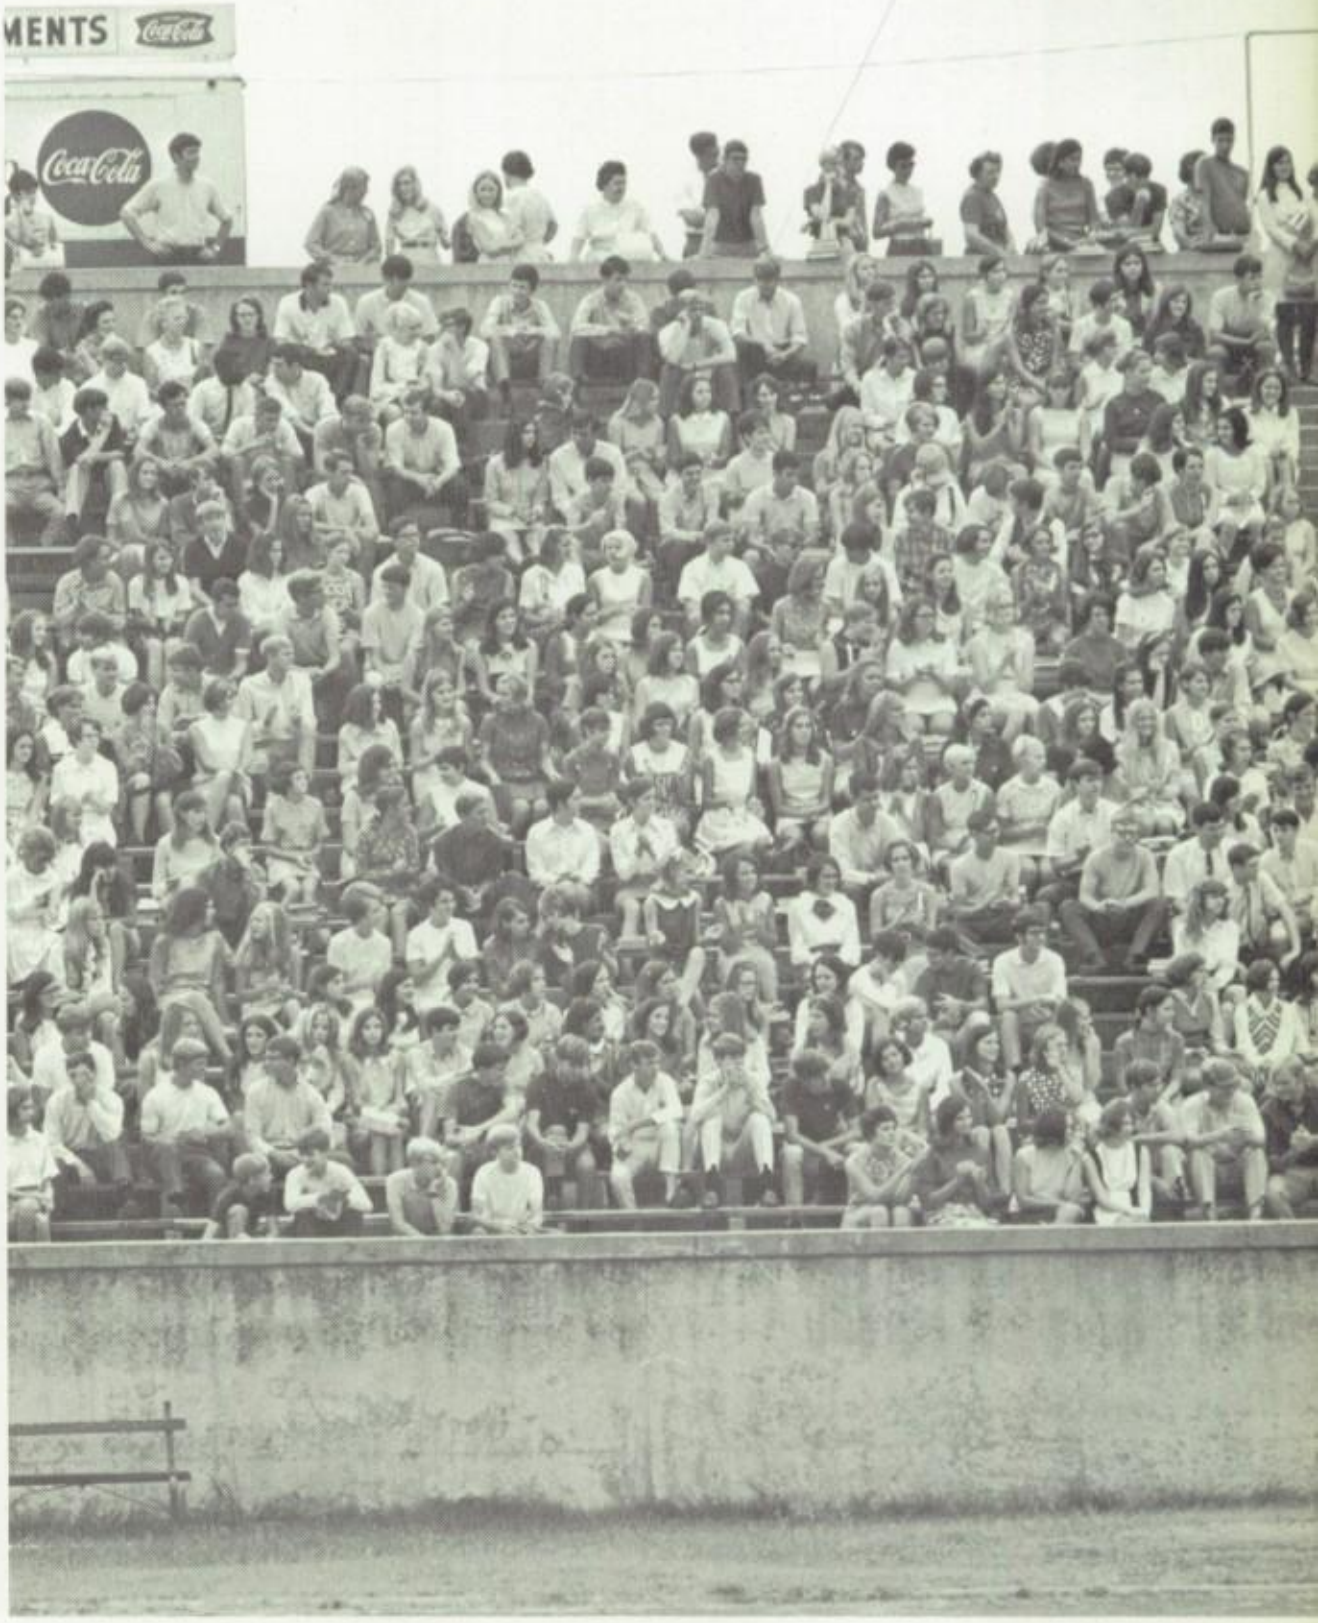
The volume of plaudits surges with triumph or failures...



. . . but only the spirit of the team can bring ultimate victory

A cheer blasts from a
Blue and white crowd as
The Body pushes against
Its tough opponents.
The cheer activates the Body
Filling it with the energy and
The desire to win fairly.
But in preparation for exhibition
Sweat, the odor of the Body, clings
Next to the mind in hours of drill.
The endless circle of Days, emotions, and confrontations
Makes the Body of Athletics
Stand under its sorely strained trials.

With a tireless vigor and never-ending confidence in the team at play, the cheerleaders led the student body in a vocal and sometimes emotional chant displaying school spirit. Having sold 1,000 "Whomp 'em, Whirlies" buttons, the varsity squad was able to provide many blue-and-white extras to promote spirit. During the dinners before each game at different girls' homes, the head screamers "psyched" themselves for the job ahead with jokes and reassurances. As skirt lengths rose far above the knee this year, so did the new uniforms of the latest style in the school's most popular colors. The younger set of cheerleaders, the Junior Varsity squad, worked to unite all the classes by cheering from the stands. Song and dance numbers, originated in bi-weekly practices, added much to the usual routines of the cheerleaders, as did their very presence at all ball games, both at home and away.

Whirling Boots bring glamor to GHS half-time shows

The Whirling Boots delighted spectators at Grimsley football games with their rhythmic choreography and chorus-line kicks. At half-time the thirty-two girls pranced out on the field to supply the beauty and charm lacked by players. Their grace and accuracy have become traditional at GHS.

Three times a week the Whirling Boots gathered to practice, prepare, and perfect their intricate dance routines. Accompanied by the Marching Band or using tapes, these girls performed in the Teen-Age Talent Show, and the Youth Week Parade, as well as at all home football games.

With a clattering of sticks and banging of metal, Pep Board Chairman Carl McNeill and his brilliant Electric Trashcan Band rush onto the football field during pep rallies, exciting a new spirit among the student body. Post-3:30 pep activities included painting cars and placing announcement leaflets under car antennas, informing students and the town of Grimsley's ball games. During the week preceding a rival home game, the Board sponsored spirit days ranging from "Sock-it-to-em" day to a day of mourning for the team that would lose that night. Homeroom competitions won members free ball game tickets and often candy favors. The annual sale of over 300 mums for homecoming provided the treasury with the funds for materials to promote spirit. With an improving show of school support this year, the Pep Board sought to live up to its name by making available many different kinds of participation for all members of GHS.

GAA enters 1969 Homecoming display competition

Once a month the athletically interested girls of GAA rallied around their officers for an interesting session of volleyball, basketball, or other games. At one meeting they honored the new members with a covered dish dinner and a party. One of their new ideas this year was to enter the Homecoming competition with a display. The GAA members were among the first to arrive that chilly October morning, and half the fun of entering the competition was setting up the display at five o'clock, while it was still dark. Other highlights of the year were a weekend at Camp Cheerio and a project to sell blue sweatshirts.

Whirlies explode in 44-7 Dudley conference victory

SENIOR QUARTERBACK Rick Halstead is dragged down after another successful ramble around end.

The air in the Whirlie locker room was filled with an electricity which, during the previous week, had conducted itself through the players to the entire student body. The 1969 Whirlie football team was determined to start this season differently from the past. They wanted to win and were ready to prove it – and prove it they did. Raleigh Broughton, a team that had beaten the Whirlies the past two years, was the first to fall. Sparked by the leadership of Howard Stang, a devastating defense held the Caps scoreless while Grimsley scored two touch downs on the running of quarterback Rick Halstead. The climax of the season came when South Carolina's state champion, Greenwood, dropped 13–7 to GHS. It was, perhaps, one of the best games GHS ever played. Senior Donnie Gleason and Junior Mike Dempsey proved themselves capable receivers when both caught touchdown passes.

The next game was with Lynchburg, Virginia. On a controversial first down, the Whirlies lost their first one, 15–14. From here on out, the season was a different story. The team could not seem to regain their momentum in time to beat arch rival Page, and lost again.

Demoralized, the offense and the defense could not manage to get together. When one went, the other didn't. The Whirlies dropped the next six games. Despite the fact that the Whirlies played one of the toughest schedules in the state (3 out of the 5 conference games were against top ten teams), the Whirlies should have had a better season. They definitely had the potential.

The watchword for the 1969 Jayvee football team was new: new coaches, new players, and new ideas. Taking the place of assistant principal Andy Canady was Luke McKeel. Mac Thacker took over the reins as head coach. Last year's undefeated team was totally replaced by the income crop of sophomores. These changes, as always, brought about some problems, but the 5-3-1 record was deceptive. The team showed much potential in the games it won, while often defeating itself by mistakes in the other games. Exemplifying the reputation of the team was the fact that they could not even find a team that would play them one week.

Outstanding players and people to watch next year include Dave Hancock, linebacker, and Ray Phillips, fullback. These two players provided the inspiration for their individual offensive or defensive teams.

The 1969 football team was a team with good players, good coaches, and good spirit. These athletes should provide a good nucleus for future Whirlie squads.

Cross-Country runners capture fifth in state meet

During an exhausting practice, the Cross-Country team rests briefly to catch their breath and sometimes lose their lunch.

The finish line came within sight. The 2.2 mile course had come suddenly to an end. As the initial runners streaked across the line, someone happened to notice that the first six runners were from GHS, giving a rare perfect score to the Whirlies.

This was the story of the season, as the Whirlies, led by Junior Joe Browder, captured first in all four of their regular season meets and ran away with the Conference Championship.

This '69 version of the Cross-Country team placed second in the Wake Forest Invitational and third in the Eastern Sectionals. In these meets, the Whirlies relied heavily on Seniors David Buie, Skip Anderson and Bob Deaton, and Juniors Joe Kelleher and Bob Brodie.

Being one of the only ten teams out of 44 to qualify for the State meet, GHS earned a respectable fifth place in this year's State competition. Joe Browder finished a team high of 10th in this final meet out of 90 boys from around the state. He, along with others, will be back next year to lead the charge for yet another Championship for GHS.

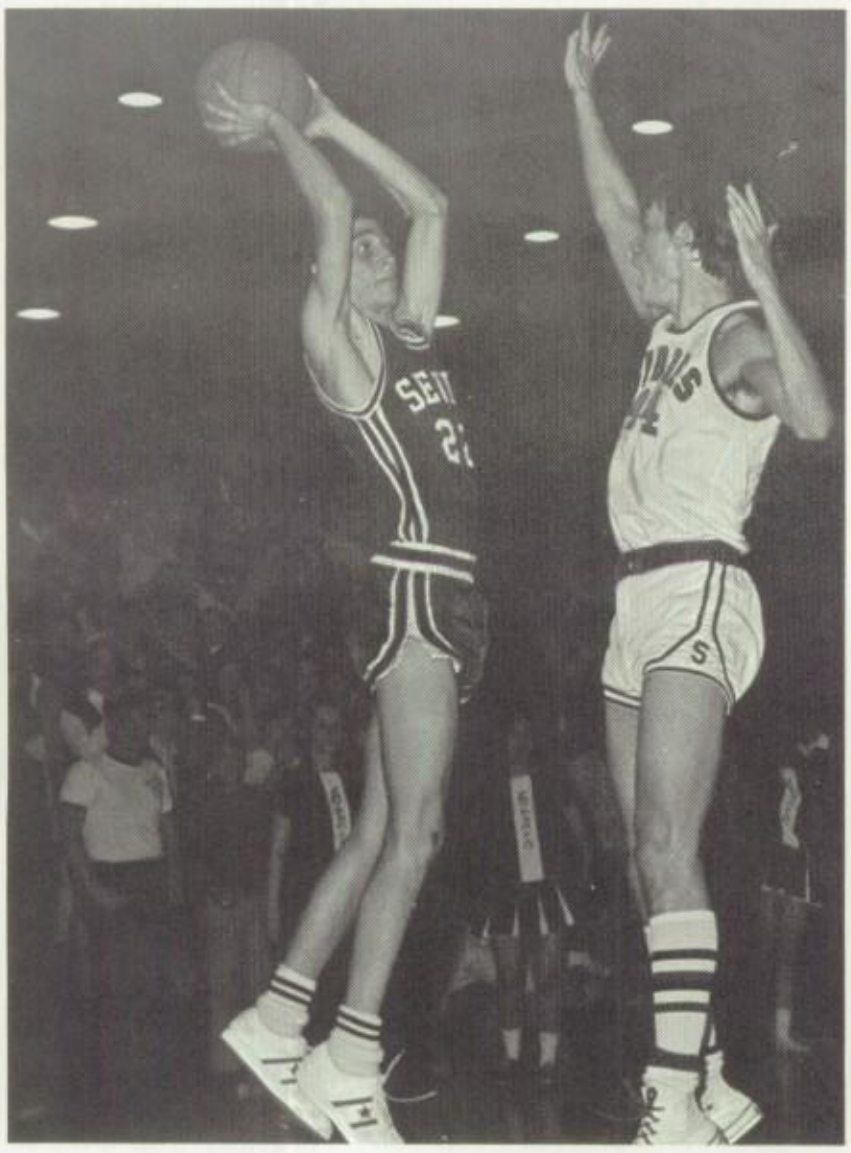
Whirlies storm to 19-5 season; third place in state



The Grimsley basketball team was just plain impatient this season. They just couldn't wait like they were supposed to. Only one player was returning with any mentionable playing time and any Championship team was supposedly one year away. Instead, they rolled to a 19-5 record, a Conference Championship and third place in the State. Led by 6'6" junior Mike Dempsey's scoring and rebounding, GHS streaked through the regular season suffering only three setbacks by a total of eight points, one in overtime. The ball handling of Reed McMasters and the long range shooting of Dan Piephoff comprised the majority of senior contributions. With the uncanny driving of Ken McKinney and the jump shots of Greg Ward and Eddie Jones, the juniors led the squad in both rebounding and scoring. Another pleasant surprise was the playing of sophomore Bill Chambers who showed few of the mistakes common to first year players.

Winning the regular season Championship, the Whirlies continued their quest for the State crown by capturing the central 4-A.

JUNIOR GREG WARD whips a pinpoint pass into the awaiting hands of a teammate.

Tournament title and advancing to the Finals. In the opening round of the State Championship, the Whirlies downed Parkland behind the all-around play of Mike Dempsey. In the semi-final game, Grimsley suffered a heartbreaking loss to the future Champs, South Mecklenburg, 47-46. To complete the season, the team stormed past Asheville for third place in North Carolina 4-A schools.

Frequently, we make threats about waiting until next year. In all honesty, the GHS basketball team will be back next year, stronger than ever. Let's just hope our impatient Whirlies can wait that long.

MIKE DEMPSEY, the leading scorer and rebounder, hits a short jump shot.

The 1969-70 Jayvee Basketball team charged through a most successful season, although they failed to advance to the State play-offs. Coached by Mac Thacker, the team netted 13 victories as opposed to only 5 losses.

From the beginning the junior Whirlies demonstrated their ability as athletes by bouncing past North Davidson with the rather lopsided score of 53-30. Although losing the second game of the season to Raleigh, the team rebounded to take the next five games. Experiencing only occasional losses, the JV's completed their season with six consecutive victories.

The leading scorer for the season was Jack Elkins, a junior who should be a valuable asset as a varsity cager next year. Another player to watch out for is 6'5' sophomore Carlton White, cited by Coach Thacker as the most improved player on his young team.

Grimsley Wrestlers pin down second in conference

Statistics can be deceiving. The GHS Wrestling team, well known State-wide for its consistent excellence, served as definite proof this year. The Whirlies experienced a mediocre 9–5–1 season, good enough for a tie for second place in the Central 4-A Group I Conference. Four of these losses came at the hands of Page and Winston-Salem Reynolds, the top two teams in the State this year.

Leading the charge was Phil Jones, who muscled his way to an undefeated season in the 180 class. Also contributing valuable points were seniors Ferd Stout (10-5), Dewey Smith (9-3) and junior Roger Seigler (12-3).

In the Sectional competition, Jones battled his way to the finals but had to settle for second. Gaining another berth in the state Meet for the Whirlies was Ferd Stout, who finished third in the Sectionals.

At the State Finals, both Jones and Stout placed fifth in the State-wide competition, quite a tribute to thier abilities and the Coaches' training.

With Jones and Seigler back next year to head the attack, statistics should this time show the true story: another championship season for the Whirlies.

Nope, for it is none other than our own GHS swimming team, which managed to capture its sixth consecutive State Championship! Sweeping the meet with 96 points, compared to 55 for the second-place team, this squad continued its domination of North Carolina high school swimming.

Coach Bob Sawyer did another superb job of combining strong sophomores with experienced upperclassmen. Senior Louis Allen paced the team throughout the season with his record-breaking performances in the 200 and the 400-yard freestyle races and anchoring our state champion freestyle relay team. During the season the Whirlie tankmen streaked past any and all competition supplied by area schools.

The main competitive events of the season were the Southeastern Interscholastic meet and the Atlantic Seaboard Invitational. In both meets the Whirlies were edged out of first place by stiff out-of-state competition by just a point or two. Not to be denied however, the squad stormed back for the Southern Interscholastic Championship over a field of 36 teams, setting one meet record and 4 GHS records. To climax the regular season the talented Whirlies swept past the UNC freshmen for their first victory ever over the Tar Heels.

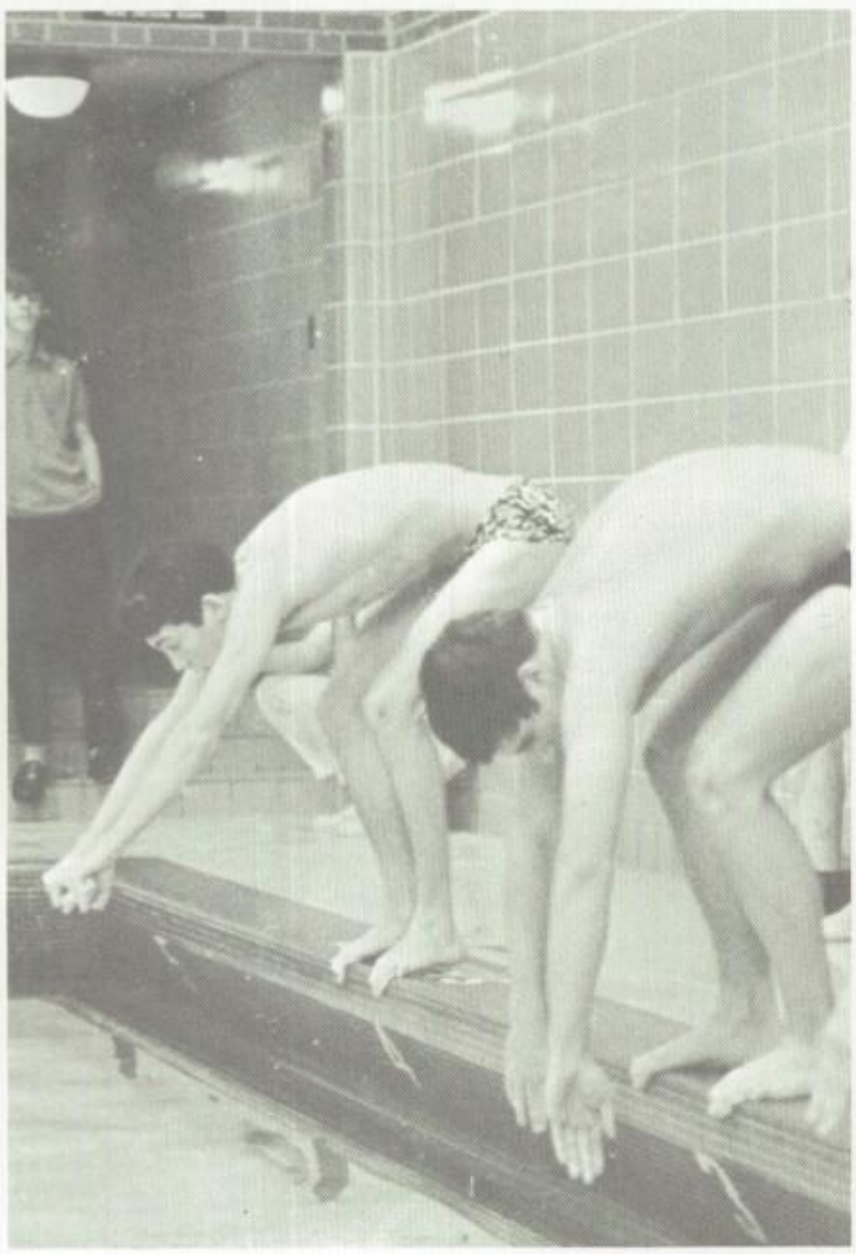
The annual Central 4-A Meet merely served as a stepping stone to the State Championship for GHS, as area teams supplied little or no competition. The team swept 10 of 11 first places, amassing 147 points – two more than all the other teams combined. Louis Allen broke his own two records in his specialties and Chuck Entrekin reigned as diving champ for his third straight year, to lead the team in scoring.

The annual state meet was again held in Chapel Hill's Bowman Gray pool, the site of the earlier defeat of the UNC team at the hands of the Whirlies.

Dewey, Self and Berry capture firsts in state meet

CHUCK ENTREKIN ended his reign over Central 4-A Diving his year after his third straight Championship.



BREASTSTROKERS Jack Boxman and Ernie Spangler anxiously await the starter's gun.

In the eleven events held during the State meet, GHS captured four firsts and seven seconds, erasing in the process two old records held by Page. Sophomore Tom Berry and Jack Boxman finished 1–2 in the 100-yard breaststroke, with Berry setting a new State record. Big Louis Allen had to settle for two seconds to complete his winning ways as a Whirlie. Eclipsing another record by six seconds, the 400-yard freestyle relay composed of Rick O'Hare, John Dewey, Ronnie Self, and Louis Allen added icing to the victory cake. Also earning firsts were John Dewey and Ronnie Self, two juniors who show exciting potential for the near future for Coach Sawyer.

With only twenty-five percent of the team graduating this year, it looks like #7 next year for the Grimsley swimmers. We better start worrying when we reach thirteen. It's unlucky, you know.

Dewiness, on bush and brow,
Ushers in new, fresh dedication
To Spring and its sports.
Stretching ahead, the cinder oval,
A rolling fairway, a lonely backstop
Present the challenge to run on.

SPRING SPORTS

Whirlie sluggers experience uncommon losing season

The Whirlies, struck hard by graduation, began the 1969 Baseball season as hot as a bonfire. Unfortunately, the fire burned itself out and the defending Central 4-A Champions experienced their first losing season in years.

Igniting the season with an initial 11-0 win over Asheboro, GHS rode the heavy hitting of Bob Dupree for six consecutive victories. The final victory of the winning streak, also the last of the season, came on the 1-0 conference win over Burlington on the three-hit pitching of Rick Farthing. The flames of victory were suddenly extinguished. Injuries and ineligibilities reduced the potency of the squad.

The fire smoldered and died. The team suffered 9 straight defeats. Five of the losses came on defeats of two runs or less, but they still went down as a loss. The key to defeat could have been the absence of Whirlie hitting, as they were held scoreless in 4 of the last 9 defeats.

Reliable infielding played a major role in the early success on the diamond, although underclassmen dominated the infield and the mound. As usual, the youth of the squad is counted on to provide the spark for the next GHS baseball squad.

BASERUNNING and good fielding are two often-overlooked aspects of this fast-paced sport.

Determined Trackmen capture 5th in City-County

LEONARD SUGG shows the form that sent him to the State competition in the Shot-Put.

STRAINING every muscle, sophomore Warren Nesbit attempts to gain valuable points in the high jump competition.

As Spring began, an infinite line of gray sweatsuits could be seen shuffling aimlessly around our cinder track. As the days crept by, that line became a very finite number which soon jelled into another one of Coach Sawyer's disciplined and talented GHS track teams.

As days moved into weeks, new shoes were broken in and all settled down for the real thing.

Moser, Whitley, and Dempsey are track standouts

GRUELING training pays off as Randy Poole methodically shovels the baton to Jack Hunneman for another GHS 1st.

Senior BeBe Whitley and Junior Leonard Sugg were pre-season favorites in both the discus and shot-put. Steve Moser, a constant threat in the hurdles, was counted on heavily for points.

So Grimsley sprinted onward, without any super stars, but just with a hardworking team of determined young Whirlies. Each day, the track was cluttered with Whirlies conditioning to obtain peak condition for the coming season.

Meets were won and meets were lost, and the season slowly disappeared, leaving only the coveted City-County championship and 4-A titles.

Favorites were picked, and the track was readied, awaiting the City-County event. GHS, previously undefeated in the annual affair, wasn't considered a contender for the title, which eventually went to favored Page. But the Thinclads, true to the Whirlie way, gave it their best, finishing 5th in the final standing.

Standouts of this event for the Whirlies were Sophomore Joe Browder, winning second in the mile, and Jack Dempsey, taking second in the 880.

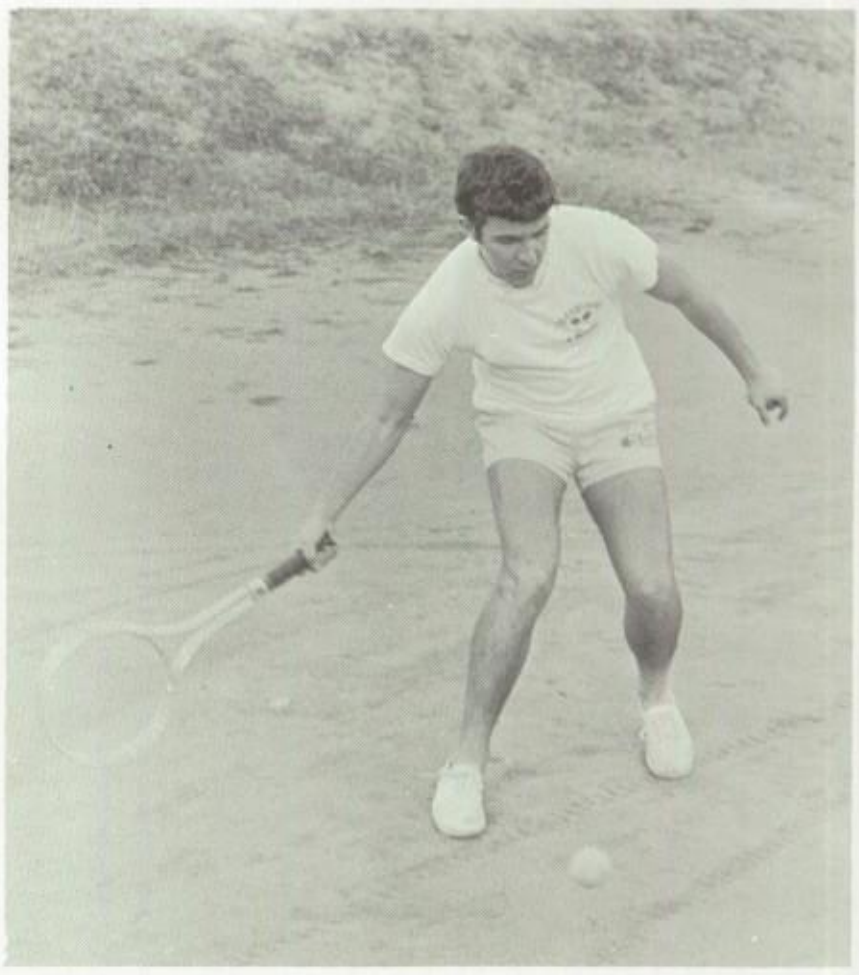
Senior Jay Jorgensen heads team of Whirlie netters

DON VAUGHN returns a low blow.



The 1969 Grimsley Tennis Team did not have such a bouncing season as they might have expected; but considering the competition, it was quite acceptable. The team won only four out of eleven games, playing stiff competition in such cities as Raleigh and High Point. Despite the record, the team has several bright spots. They scored a big upset victory over Burlington and continued their wins against Smith and Dudley. Often, it was necessary for the games to be played on Saturday, but the players sacrificed their free time to uphold Whirlie tradition.

A new addition to the tennis racket this year was Mac Thacker, who took over as head coach. The team practiced daily under his guidance. The real swinger of the tennis team this year was Jay Jorgenson, who remained number one all year, a feat which does credit to his ability. Other outstanding members of the team include Juniors Don Vaughan and Robert Hites. These two, and several other returning underclassmen, make a bright future for the GHS tennis team.

Early morning talkfest, full of smiles, disbelief and plans . . .

. . . begin the daily adventures of friends making memories

Eyes, glistening, slightly wet,
Dance through the days at GHS.
How often these hours seem cold,
Without facial expressions like
A warm smile to lift the mood.
But the personalities still linger,
Of those who did shout the greeting
And of others who simply spoke
Or just cared about someone else.
Faces show a character that sometimes
Doesn't reach an ear in the
Waving halls of our high school life.
As we head for the exit of this Part of the year, even the faint blare
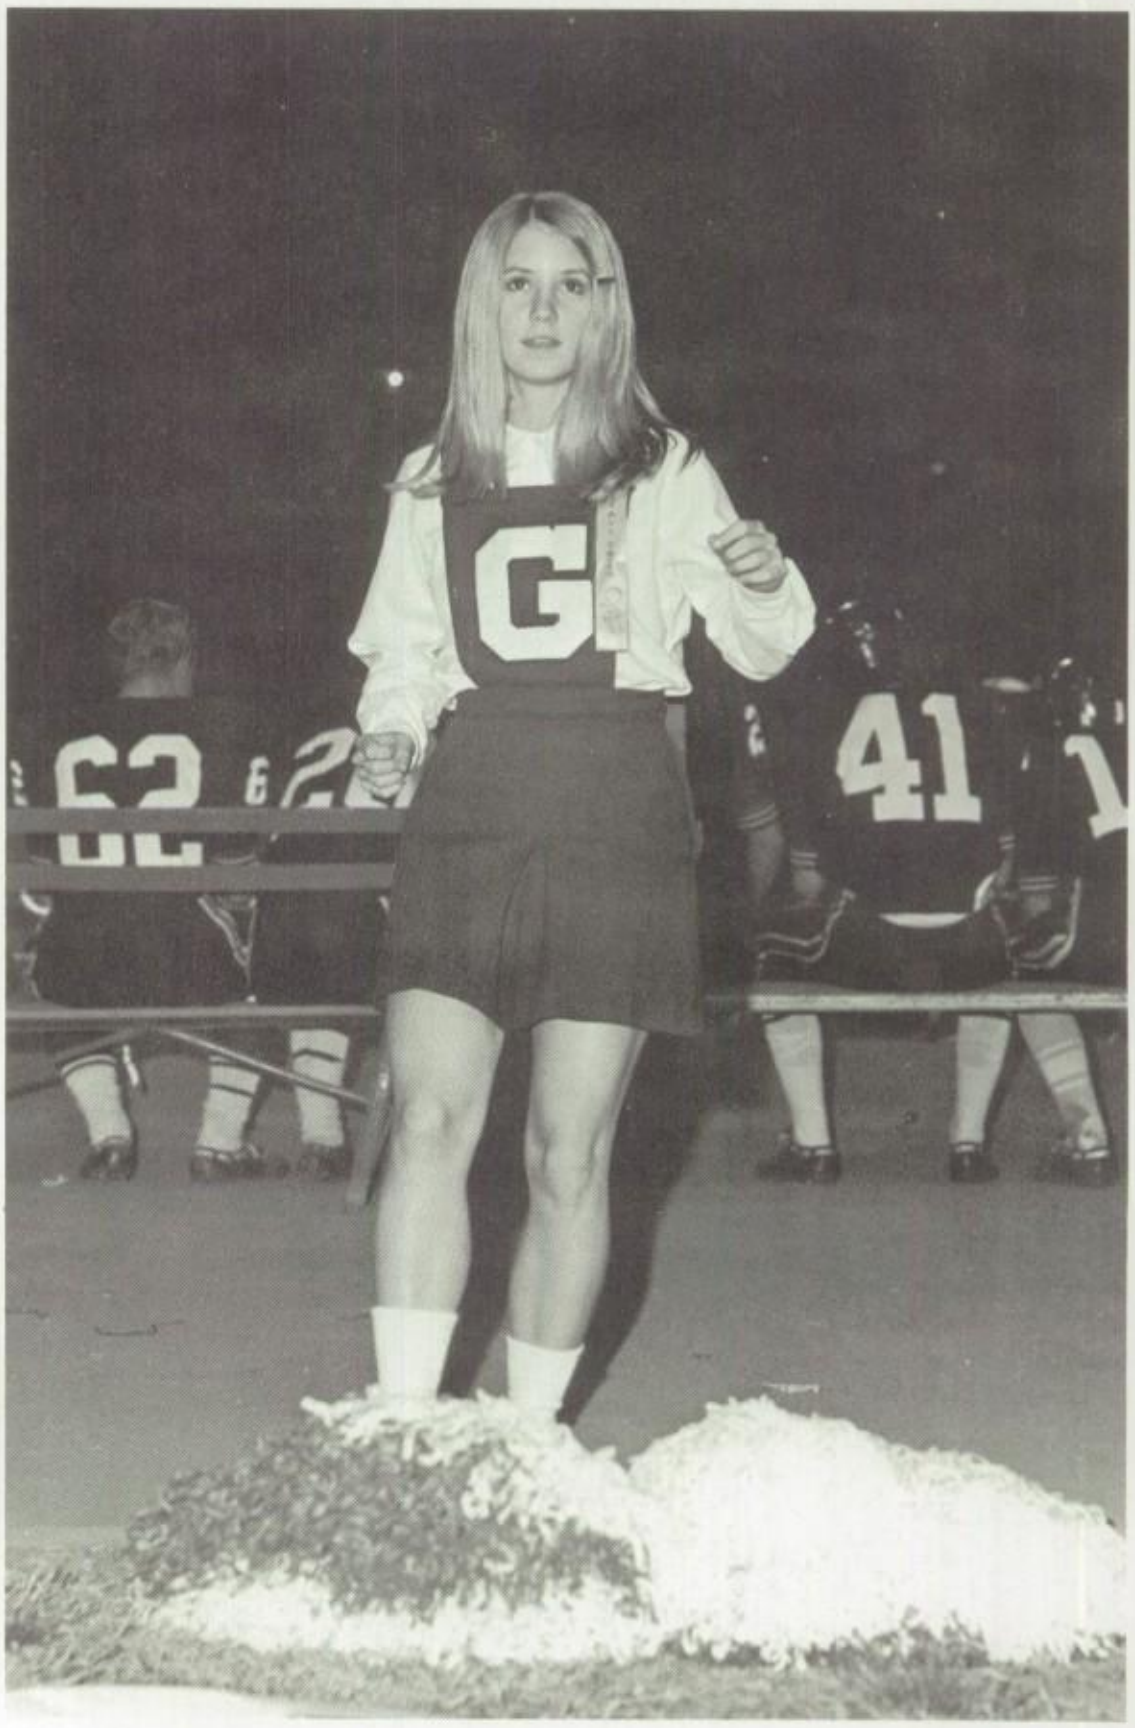
From a car radio could mean
A new friendship's beginning.

PEOPLE

LEARNING TO DRIVE takes long hours or training – and many sophomore can vouch for that!

BAREFOOTED sophomore looks with disgust at her wet shoes.



JV CHEERLEADER Mimi Martin gazes pensively into the crowd at Grimsley's Homecoming game.

Sophomores collect memories in first year at GHS

OFFICERS of the Sophomore Class are Mendenhall, Rendleman, President Bullard, and DeBragga.

"He does it just like John Wayne."

Well, Sophs, we finally made it!
Through a hard and complex year.
We took our ups and downs in stride;
Now we're over the Grimsley "fear".

Remember suffering through that first day,
Almost holding buddy's hands,
Believing all 'bout elevators,
Bowing to upperclassmen demands?

Remember crying over that poor
Defenseless frog in biology,
And memorizing theorems for
That dreaded subject geometry?

Remember in assembly
When it was unequivocally told,
That Sophomores would behave
And play their Grimsley role?

Remember electing officers,
And becoming pencil experts,
Taking driver education,
Wearing pants instead of skirts?

Remember learning new rules,
And to classes being prompt,
Plowing through exams and homework?
In both we all were swamped.

Remember dances in the girls' gym,
Where everyone expressed their soul,
Looking up to those big seniors?
For us, 72's the goal.

Remember this was a tough year,
But now we're Junior bound.
Sophs, we finally made it,
Our place at Grimsley is found!

FIRST ASSEMBLY reveals many strange VIP's to baffled sophomores.

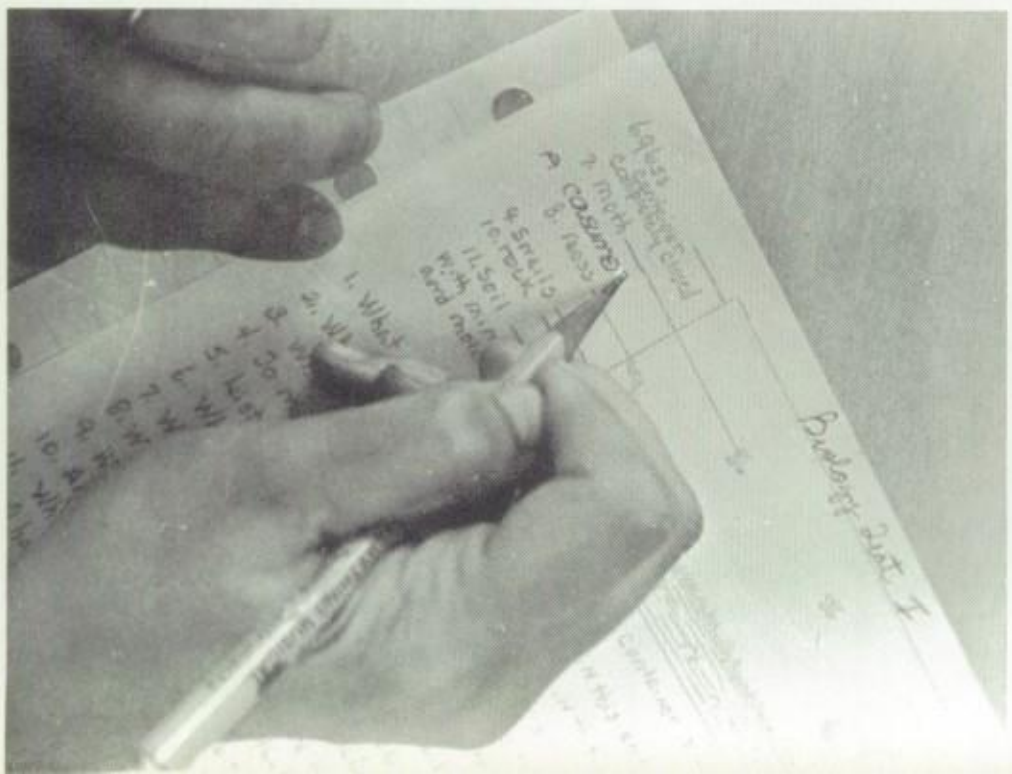
A GHASTLY example of Everhart's earnest efforts.



"IS THIS our room?"

JUNIOR ADVISOR Mrs. Lily Fields and scenery committee chairman Diane Dockery. Much of the play's success was due to their hard work.

JUNIORS STOOD patiently in long lines to receive the long-awaited class rings.

All features make our Junior year unforgettable

"I think somebody made a mistake."

The middle year is over! The rut of American history has been bumped through, cushioned by more frequent assemblies and added privileges. Confronted with the new challenges of PSAT's, National Merit tests, College Boards, and varsity sports, we responded with enthusiasm and spurts of intelligence and stamina. Our contributions to the student body were noticeably more important as we sought new avenues of service and participation. United, we worked diligently to produce Cheaper by the Dozen. The tickets, not as quickly sold as we wanted to believe, helped pay for this section of the Whirligig and swell our class treasury. Donning blue and white sashes, our marshals served at all school programs. In the fall we ordered class rings, our mark of distinction from the sophomores. They arrived, a half size too large, just before the Christmas holidays. Spring brought our special gift to the seniors – a beautiful and memorable prom. With this year's senior class gone, we willingly step forward to assume the responsibility of leadership at Grimsley, excitedly anticipating the future.

IMPORTANT ASPECTS of CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN were, (top) the important character being carried off stage and (bottom) make-up done behind the scenes.

CAST of this year's Junior Class play, CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN, pose before a dress rehearsal. The play was directed by Miss Mozelle Causey.

Thirty-five are honored as GHS Marshals this year

WITH A SMILE, a welcome, and a program, Marshals greet all people coming to school productions. Cindy Hanner is the typical Marshal pictured below.

Wearing a white dress or a dark suit, and a distinctive blue-and-white sash, any Junior Marshal can be seen handing out programs, collecting tickets, speaking a welcome with a pleasant smile, and guiding guests to seats during any evening concert or program in the Grimsley auditorium. The Marshals appreciate the honor of their position, for it is one of the most rewarding experiences a Junior can participate in. Within the many hours on duty, each Marshal learns to successfully incorporate the greetings and the ushering with his other requirements of babysitting and homework assignments.

The final duty of Marshals is escorting the graduating Seniors through the Commencement exercises. This, coupled with taking part in many events and gaining public recognition, makes each Junior Marshal proud of his election for a year of representing his school, his homeroom, and himself.

For Juniors two-thirds of the big hurdle is behind

WITH MUCH SPIRIT the junior cheerleaders led the confident Whirlies onto the field before the 1969 Homecoming game.

With a shake of the hand and receipt of his diploma, a senior becomes a GHS alumnus.

Lockers, favorite meeting places of students, provide perfect spots for casual conversation.

Students rise with animated school spirit to shout "Fight, fight!" as they cheer on the GHS team.

Senior year — a time of memories and plans for the future

Officers of the Senior Class – Seated: Secretary Fuller; Treasurer Huffling. Standing: President Knight; Vice President Vaughan.

Music, a common denominator for us, has been a part of most events at Grimsley. "Pomp and Circumstance," familiar yet not fully appreciated, echoes through the gym for us now as our graduation begins. The flowing march leads us directly to our alphabetically assigned place in rows of chairs that seat backward thoughts as well as those of the future.

Sophomore year . . . our weak stomachs quaked and completely turned at the fears of a complex network of buildings and teachers. The little things we noticed, like well-worn steps and doors half-filled with windows making excellent daydraming mirrors. A genuine accomplishment was selling more pencils than any other class before us. The desire for independence helped us through dawn Driver's Training classes and hair-raising sessions behind the wheel. Then final exams rushed on us, and then it was over until . . .

Junior year . . . This was the year of growth. Our pride continued to expand as our leaders successfully planned events such as our Thanksgiving Assembly and our gift to the seniors, a dream night in Camelot that was a beautiful experience for everybody. Then, that year was finished and we looked forward to . . .

Senior Class Advisor – Mr. Jay Arena

For completion of

Our senior year . . . SAT scores went down and achievement tests grinded mighty seniors to a pulp but parties lifted spirits. Everyone was "uptight" over college application. "Senior–itis" infected everyone as our last year waned, causing much sentimentality and more happiness. A witty Class Day, the Senior Tea, last assemblies, and line-up rehearsals flowed right into these chairs where we now sit robed in blue. The teary notes of our last Alma Mater shake from our throats as we realize that we now emerge as adults to the world of college or career, proud to claim we are Grimsley's Class of 1970.

Top ground-gainer, Gleason is tackled by Dudley Panther.

Facing inevitable separation, Seniors treasure moments spent at Prom.

college applications, Seniors endure marathon testing

Seniors find humor in many areas of study, even in CANTERBURY TALES.

Charmed by the characters of the land of Oz, Seniors enjoy their last May Day at GHS.

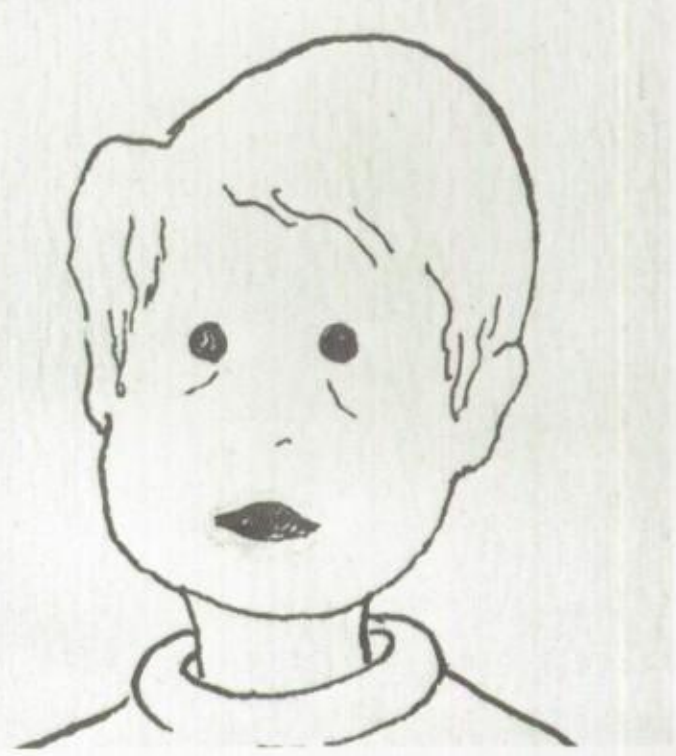
Imitation Bruce Osborne found, rooted out



At this point I would like to apologize for the grave injustice done to Mr. Bruce Osborne. Somehow Bruce Osborne the human was replaced by Bruce Osborne the ink line. Frankly it was hard to tell the difference.

Bruce is a member of the WHIRLIGIG staff and is known to all as a conscientious worker. He has carried a major part of the burden in the production of this book. Bruce is the all-around type of guy. He loves physical activity especially with girls, as well as the mental activity of school work. But somehow, heaven only knows how, this other Bruce moved in and got his picture on all those pages. I'm sorry, Bruce, and I take full credit.

Bill Proctor

PS: Better luck next time, Brucey wusey.

Bill

Well the years over, finally. Luckily I'll graduate, I hope. Oh Well at least I'll pass Whirligig. Writing of Whirligig, I really learned a lot about Grimsley and the people who make up Grimsley. I hope I didn't cause that other Bruce too much trouble (he has enough without me). All the other people I met were really the greatest. If you run into me again, which I doubt, tell me hello.

One final word of advise to the other Bruce, somewhere, sometime, somehow, someone has been going through the same thing you've been going through.

Your friend and former schoolmate,
(Harold) Bruce Osborne
Class of '70
maybe '70½
possibly '71
but at least by '72 unless I flunk English again.
(no reflection on that other Bruce, of course.
